Referred to task force

Council delays vote on civil service plan

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Civil service for city employees can't seem to get off the ground in Romulus.

Seven years ago, voters defeated the measure by a small margin. Tuesday night, council members couldn't get together and ended up delaying action, pending further study by a task force appointed a couple of weeks ago.

Everything appeared ready to go Tuesday for a favorable vote by council on how to place the civil service question on the Nov. 6 city general election. Ten months ago, the council approved placing it on the ballot, but did not specify how the measure would be classified.

The original civil service system was drafted by Clerk Leonard J. Folmar and the city attorney. According to the clerk, the civil service program proposed for Romulus was a vast improvement over traditional types, inasmuch as it excluded department heads and complied with the city charter.

'Are we voting on an amendment...?'

Following slight revisions last week by the council-appointed task force, the new civil service plan appeared to need only a slight push by council for placement on the November ballot.

Robert Plank, a member of the audience, questioned whether civil service would become a "political football", if placed on the same ballot with candidates running for city offices.

Plank urged that the matter be postponed until a later date when no candidates were seeking office.

The city charter stipulates that if defeated by the people, the civil service measure can be resubmitted twice more.

Council member Beverly McAnally asked: "Are we voting on an amendment to the charter or on a civil service ordinance?"

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry explained that if voted in as a charter amendment, the civil service system would be "locked in" as opposed to a city ordinance which could be changed from time to time.

Folmar interjected, saying the civil service program could be voted on as one of three options — an ordinance, an amendment to the city charter, or as a referendum.

McAnally said she was against putting the civil service proposal on the November ballot because of the confusion in the wording. She said she wanted to be assured of the validity of the civil service measure if passed.

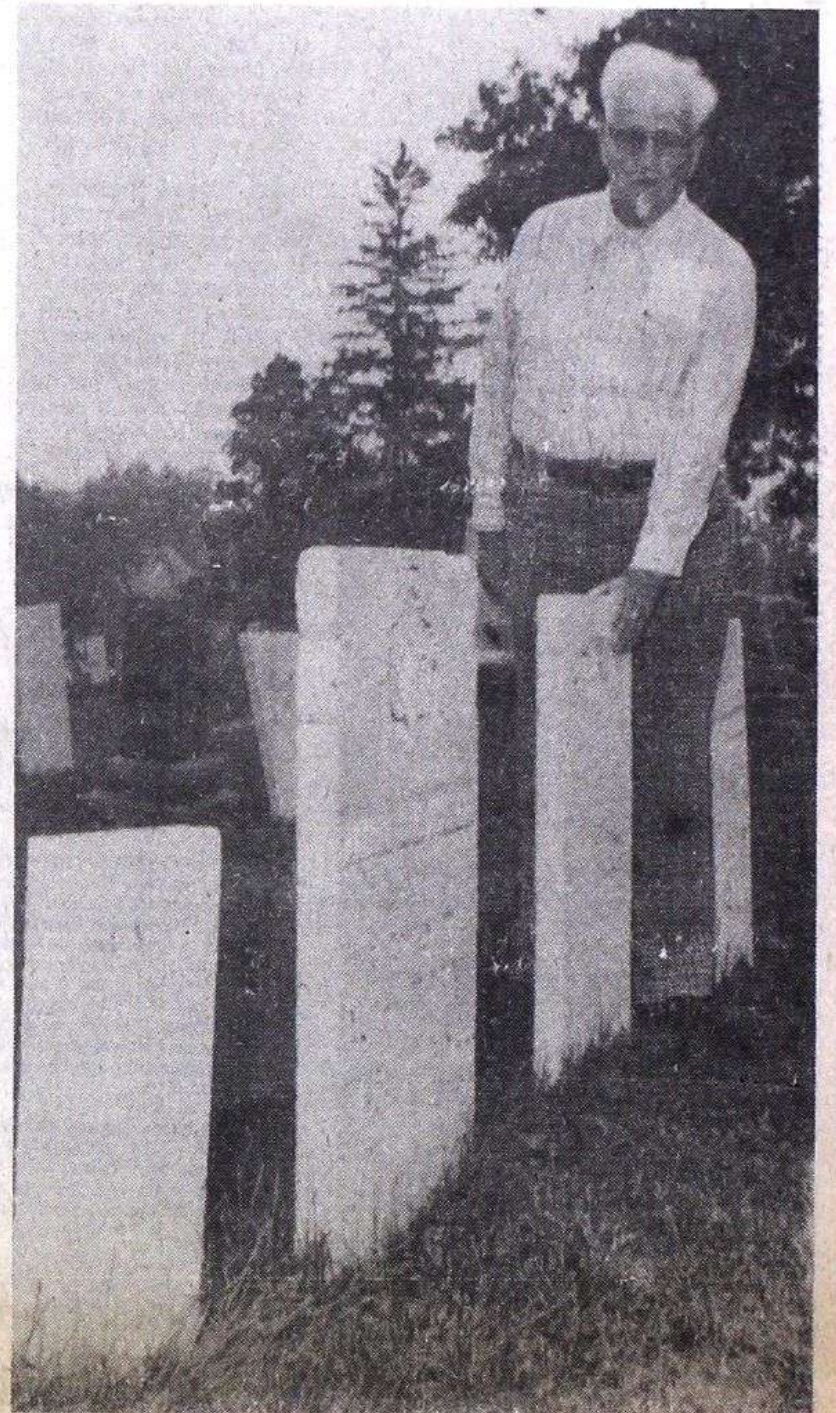

"I don't want the people to be fooled, have the civil service question challenged and then thrown out," she added.

Council approved her motion to rescind the motion to have the civil service question placed on the coming November ballot, but referred it back to the task force for more study and for a recommendation that it be put before city voters at a later date, possibly at the city school election next June.

Although he voted in favor of McAnally's motion, Raspberry questioned what more the task force can do at this point.

"Will the same thing happen next June and we vote to postpone it until the following November?" he asked.

Although Charles Lowther, the city attorney, echoed Folmar's explanation of the three possible methods of placement on the ballot, council's action Tuesday left which avenue to pursue still unresolved.

Helps fire department

Fire Chief John Wilhide accepts a check for $175 from officers of the "Emergency Network" CB Club last week that will be used to purchase fire prevention films shown at elementary schools by members of the Romulus Fire Department. The local CB group, formerly known as by the acronym HELP, is organized to monitor CB radios and aid or relay information to the proper authorities. They periodically hold fund-raising activities and are currently offering athletic cushions, the kind used in outdoor spectator sports, to Romulus residents, with ad space being purchased by local businesses. At the presentation were: Jim Dennett "Jimbo," president (from left); Shirley Wilson "Morningstar," corresponding secretary; Judy Dennett "Southern Lady," recording secretary, and Chief Wilhide. Seniors' complex groundbreaking is Oct. 12

"Time heals all wounds", or so the old saying goes.

Whether that be true or not, the controversy over a senior citizens' high-rise building just behind the downtown area seems to have died down considerably.

In fact, the official groundbreaking ceremony is scheduled for 3 p.m. Oct. 12 at the corner of Bibbins Avenue and Shook Street by the developer, North Cranbrook Associates of Southfield.

Only a few short months ago, residents of the area voiced complaints about the proposal. Some felt undesirable tenants might be used to fill vacancies for senior citizens and that many questions were left unanswered as to size of the building, fire and police protection and increased sewer costs.

Many said the building should be located in another section of the city.

However, as high as tempers flared then, a week from this coming Friday will see city, county and state officials and many city residents turn out for the high-rise groundbreaking, the rite that will signal the beginning of construction on the 6-story complex, which will cost an estimated $4 million.

First preference for tenancy will be given to residents of Romulus, who must be 62 years of age or older to qualify. In isolated cases, handicapped persons not yet 62 also may be admitted.

The new high-rise structure will be similar in design to the Wayne Towers and the Garden City Towers, also built by North Cranbrook Associates.

Residents who will occupy the 115 one-bedroom units and 10 two-bedroom units, will pay only 15 to 25 per cent of their income for rent. Tenants will be protected by the latest in security systems, including a single entrance from the outside, television camera surveillance for the foyer, a sophisticated call and fire alarm system throughout the building, and a well-lighted parking lot for 63 cars.

The main floor of the high rise will include a large lounge, multi-purpose room, library, card room, arts and crafts workshop, special meeting room, laundry, storage area, office space, and outdoor patio area with shuffleboard courts.

Proximity of the new high rise to the downtown section of Romulus will make it easy and convenient for tenants who wish to do their shopping on foot.

Mayor William M. Oakley urged all those senior citizens who wish to live in the new high-rise building to sign up by calling his office at 941-0666 and giving their name, address, and telephone number.

High rise groundbreaking set

The official groundbreaking ceremony for Romulus Tower, the new senior citizens high-rise building at Bibbins Avenue and Shook Street, will be held at 3 p.m. Oct. 12 by the developer, North Cranbrook Associates of Southfield. The 6-story complex will cost about $4 million and will be similar to the Wayne Towers and Garden City Towers, also built by North Cranbrook Associates. The high-rise structure will contain 115 one-bedroom dwelling units and 10 two-bedroom units.

Autumn in state : Technicolor of activities

Sunny days, crisp evenings and forest lands turning technicolor proclaim the arrival of autumn in Michigan. It's the season of harvests and halloween, summer memories and holiday plans.

The Michigan Travel Bureau's Calendar of Travel Events shows October to be a month of festal activities and entertainment as bright and colorful as the landscape. High on the list of popular fall activities are the Fall Color Cruises, out of Charlevoix, aboard the motor ship Beaver Islander. The cruise meanders along the shoreline of Lake Charlevoix providing passengers with a breathtaking view of Mother Nature's seasonal spectacular. Cruises are scheduled for Oct. 6-7, 13 and 20. Reservations are limited and should be made in advance through the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

On shore, color tours are planned in Crystal Falls and Iron River through Oct. 10, at Newaygo through Oct. 21, at Cadillac through Oct. 31, and at White Cloud, Oct. 6-7 and 13-14. Area color tour maps are available at local Chambers of Commerce to point you in the most colorful direction.

local interior designers beginning Oct. 15, and continuing through Nov. 4.

Star-studded entertainment brightens stages across Michigan in October. The Detroit Symphony's Weekender Pops Series features the multi-talented Steve Allen, Oct. 5 and 7, at Ford Auditorium. Kalamazoo's Miller Auditorium, on the Western Michigan University campus, has a full line up of entertainment this month, starting out with America's goodwill ambassador, Pearl Bailey, and the Louis Belson Orchestra, Oct. 6; followed by the mellow vocal styles of Lou Rawls, Oct. 12; and on Oct. 30, Isaac Stern, accompanied by the Kalamazoo Symphony Orchestra. Pleasant, Oct. 7; "Showboat" pulls into Miller Auditorium, Kalamazoo, Oct. 9-10; and the "Music Man" spots trouble in River City, from the stage of Snyder Theatre, Jackson, Oct. 4-7 and 11-13.

County seeks 10 percent of lottery money

Wayne County coffers could become $6.5 million richer, if a resolution by County Commissioner Norbert Wisniewski of Harper Woods, seeking a 10 percent cut of the State Lottery revenues for Michigan counties, continues to draw favorable reaction from state legislators.

He expects to have a bill recommending his proposal sponsored in Lansing soon.

His resolution won the unanimous approval of fellow commissioners this week and, according to Wisniewski, has resulted in dozens of letters and telephone calls from local and state representatives and unions approving his plan.

According to the commissioner Wayne County accounts for 45 percent of all lottery sales in the state amounting to approximately $164 million annually.

"Of this," he said, "$74 million is paid out in prizes and another $65.6 million goes into the state's general fund."

Wisniewski is proposing — through an amendment to MSA 18.969 (43) — that 10 percent be appropriated from the state to all counties, based on ticket sales.

State sales of lottery tickets have passed the $1.257 billion mark since its inception six years ago.

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

John Broadwood (1732-1812) was one of the first great piano makers. His company still makes keyboard instruments today under the name of Broadwood and Sons. Broadwood started by manufacturing harpsichords and made his first piano, a square model, in 1773. In 1777, he was one of a group of men who built the first English grand piano. He was also an innovator, and had two inventions patented, the application of harpsichord pedals to the grand piano, and the introduction of a separate bridge for bass strings. Both were generally adopted and appear in contemporary pianos.

Angry resident blasts conditions along Henry Ruff

A very unhappy man Tuesday night told the Romulus City Council he would take matters into his own hands, if something was not done to remedy conditions on Henry Ruff Road near his home.

A visibly angry William Sellars described the large potholes, excessive road oil, inadequate lighting, and trash dumping prevalent on that thoroughfare near his residence.

"I've been complaining for three years and nothing has been done," he said.

Explaining that he had lived at that same location for the last 27 years, Sellars warned that if road conditions were not taken care of, "I will take a day off, and you'll have the worst trouble you've ever had!"

Sellars further claimed the city's ordinance officer "was not doing his job", that "there are lights where nobody lives", and that "you can swim in the oil" on Henry Ruff Road.

He also threatened to make trouble if the city attempted to put more oil and gravel into potholes instead of repairing them with coldpatches.

David Paul, director of the city's Department of Public Works, said coldpatches were not the appropriate remedy, but agreed that something would be done to alleviate matters on that stretch of Henry Ruff Road.

Sellars received support from a neighbor, Ed Rush.

He also contended there was too much oil on the roadway and suggested that Paul look into the matter.

"The oil is too thick and is not soaking in," he claimed. "Lights are needed from Merriman to Mr. Sellars' property."

Commenting that he had been passing out petitions complaining about the conditions on Henry Ruff Road, Sellars looked at Mayor William M. Oakley, saying: "I saw you out there looking around."

Groundbreaking

The ring of a silver shovel officially signaled the start of Romulus' newest fire station last week as city officials broke ground at Huron River Drive and Northline Road. The station, a smaller version of Fire Station No. 4 located on Eureka Road east of Middlebelt, will house the men and equipment presently situated at Station No. 1 across from the post office on Bibbins Street. This latest addition to the fire department is being built with money from the sale of the old station No. 4 on Eureka Road and a federal grant. At the groundbreaking were Bob Sheridan (from left) of Sheridan Construction Company, builders of the station; Councilman Junior Block; Deputy Treasurer Rita McLennon; Councilman Gerry Canejo; Fire Chief John Wilhide; Mayor William M. Oakley; Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks; Councilwoman Beverly McNally; Jim Haslip, assistant fire chief, and Ed Laupmanis, architect for the project. (Photo by Jay Young.)

Lions Club sets up O'Connor trust fund

Publicity given to the plight of a 31-year-old Belleville man, left crippled 14 years ago after a motor scooter accident, who cannot find work, has paid off.

Coming forward to the rescue is Bill Overman, local businessman, who has offered to set up and administer a trust fund for Dennis O'Connor at a local bank on behalf of himself and the Belleville Area Lions Club.

Two weeks ago, The Belleville Enterprise ran a front page story detailing how O'Connor had to exist on $316.90, which he receives each month from the State of Michigan. The story explained that, in spite of his injuries and brain surgery, the personable young man is able physically and mentally to hold down a white collar job.

Overman, currently first vice-president of the Lions Club, has long been a friend of O'Connor, occasionally offering him odd jobs to do around his Firestone Tire store on E. Huron River Drive. The young man often spends hours passing away the time at Overman's place of business, talking and joking with the owner.

Although Roland Wolfe, Lions president, was out of town, Overman said he is confident the organization will back him 100 percent, in making him one of their local projects. An informal vote last week indicated such support, he said.

Overman... hopes the trust fund will help O'Connor defray... expenses...

Overman, who hopes the trust fund will help O'Connor defray personal and living expenses until a job offer comes through, issues a personal plea in the young man's behalf. "Anyone wishing to donate money to the Dennis O'Connor trust fund is asked to please send donations to me at 668 E. Huron River Drive, or to call me at 697-5888," Overman explained.

Overman's offer to set up the trust fund is the latest in a continuing series of humanitarian gestures made by the Lions Club and its members to the crippled crash victim.

The club bought O'Connor an adult tricycle which he uses for transportation around the city area. At Christmas, the organization gives him clothes and over the last few years has paid off some of his outstanding medical bills.

With no close family members to depend on, O'Connor lives in a rented room which he probably will lose soon, since his 86-year-old landlady is in failing health.

The Enterprise story reported that O'Connor apparently had been bypassed and forgotten by society, but with the help over the years of the Lions Club and Overman, trust fund and the offer of gainful employment may put O'Connor figuratively on both feet again.

In Brief

Roger Copp, executive director of the Huron River Watershed Council, has resigned as a member of the Ford Lake-Bellefonte Lake Citizens Task Force.

Copp listed his reason for resigning as realizing that he had been representing the interests of the entire watershed instead of concentrating on the interests of Ypsilanti Township.

"I still retain an interest in the activities of the task force, and I am more than willing to assist the task force in interpreting technical matters and effects of various activities upon the entire watershed," he stated.

His letter, addressed to Supervisor Ron Allen of Ypsilanti Township, also said he would assist the task force in any way he could, should he be called upon.

South teachers join in career awareness class

Teachers from Romulus South Junior High participated in a workshop in August on "Awareness for Career Exploration". The sessions were conducted by Jim Mahrt and Joyce Foust of Wayne County Intermediate School District and Dr. Paul Kuwik of Eastern Michigan University.

The teachers were given the background on development of career education in Michigan and its future directions in the middle schools. For the seventh, eighth, and ninth graders, emphasis will be placed on understanding the family, citizen, leisure and occupational roles which may occur during individual life stages, teachers learned.

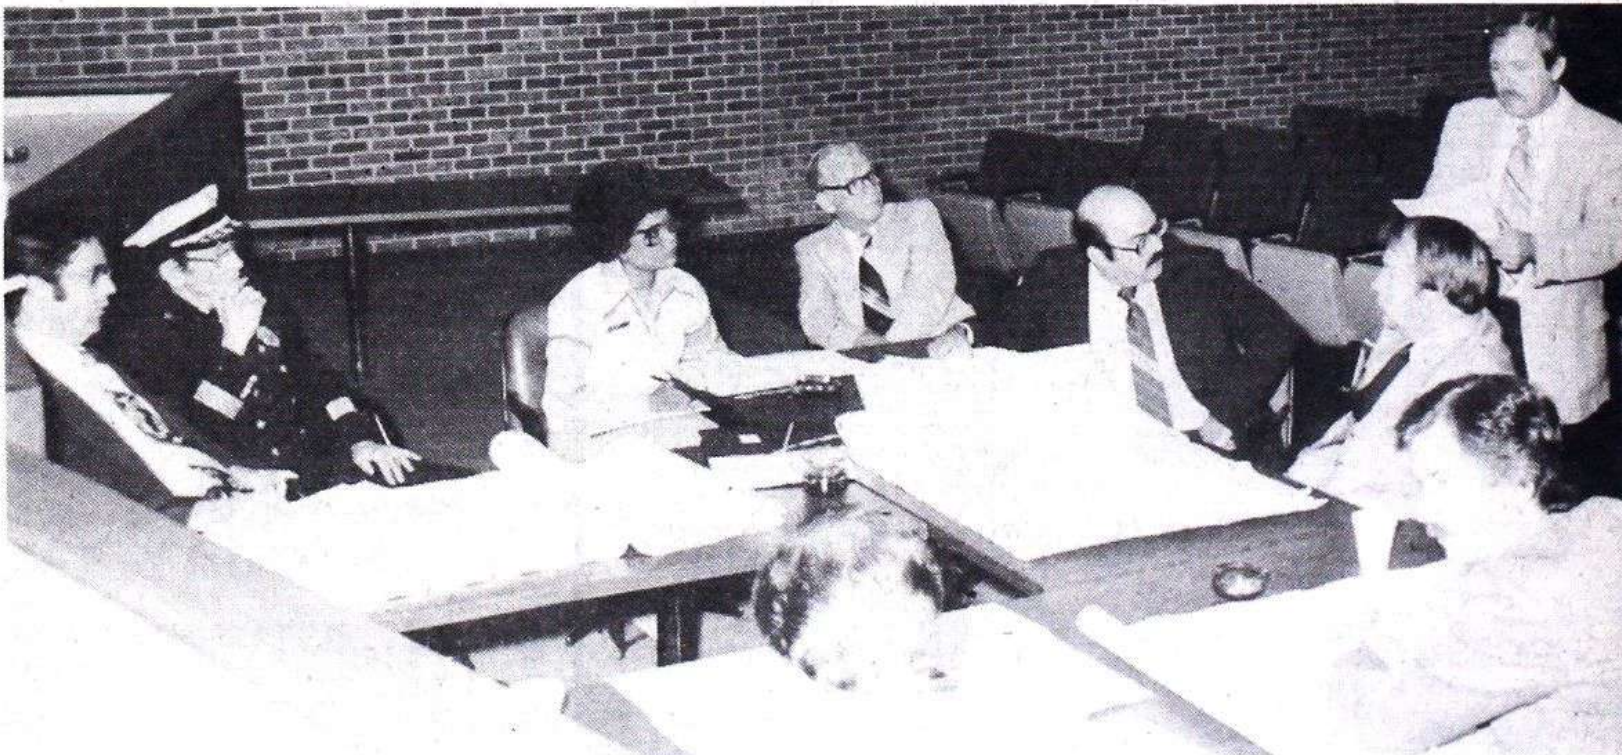

During the morning session, the teachers participated in self-awareness and decision-making activities that were developed by Michigan teachers through a state-funded project. Packets containing these and other career exploration ideas were given to each teacher.

The afternoon session was spent discussing and sharing new career education ideas that can be used in the classrooms and to develop tentative plans for the coming year.

The workshop was arranged by E. L. Sheffield, director of Career and Vocational Education, through the "Career Exploration Project".

Teachers attending the workshop were: Thomas Williams and Rose Jakob, science; Gail Fraley and Mark Anderson, art; Gwen Nelson and Lynn Cleary, music; Vern Logan, human relations; William Thomas, physical education; Towana Hughes, English; Bettye Santo, home economics; John Juriga, industrial arts; Linda Bradford, counselor; Dorothy Ogletree, special education; and Henrietta Lewis, librarian.

Plan finalized

Mayor William M. Oakley (standing) leads city department heads in a roundtable meeting last week to finalize requirements before various building permits are issued to the developer of the new "Romulus Tower" senior citizen housing complex. Present were Dave Paul (from left), DPW chief; Fire Chief John Wilhide; Vivian Armstrong, building department;

CPAs cite 10 ways industry combats rising costs

(SECOND IN A SERIES OF FIVE ARTICLES)

Certified public accountants, who provide business managers with wide-ranging advice, say a major problem currently being wrestled with by most firms is "cost containment," a problem familiar to families, too, who usually call it "living with inflation."

From the anti-inflation policies found effective by industry, members of the Michigan Association of CPAs have come up with 10 ways of countering inflation blows that might be equally useful in the home.

Their 10 cost-containment suggestions are:

(1) Multiply your sources of supply. You shop around when you buy a new car or a TV set; do the same for every-day consumable items. Only if you buy from two or more sources will you learn that a price advantage is available.

(2) Prepare a "needed-soon" list. Knowing what household necessities are in short supply will keep you alert to bargains you can really use. Avoid buying "bargains" you really don't need.

(3) Take advantage of special offers, but, again, only if you need the product. Cents-off. Two-for-the-price-of-one. Mail-in-the-coupon. Two-percent-off-for-cash. All good as gold, but only IF you would have bought the product or used the service without the special offer.

(4) Get rid of white elephants. Industry periodically clears out assets that are rarely or never used, converting them to cash which can be invested to earn income. This also increases the space available for useful purposes.

(5) Take advantage of economies of scale — but with care. Realize that savings that come with buying bulk, but don't overdo it. Remember that stocks on hand for prolonged periods are an expense; they tie up capital and have to be heated, air conditioned or otherwise maintained. On the plus side is the fact that almost anything you buy could cost much more a year from now.

(6) Reduce waste. Take another look at your life style to see how many of the expenses you take for granted could easily be dispensed with: the seldom-used phone extension; the unread magazine; the heated but unslept-in bedroom; the duplicated accident-insurance coverage; the club membership no longer used; the savings left on long-term deposit at low interest.

(7) Get everybody into the act. Industry finds that waste-reduction programs work only if everyone in the organization realizes how necessary they are. Impress on the whole family the importance of staying alert for "leaks."

(8) Do it yourself. Companies are saving by letting people on staff perform simple services that once were assigned to outside contractors sending employees to short training courses, if necessary, to acquire the skills needed.

(9) Explore renting as an alternative to buying. Consider carefully the cost of a tool or appliance in terms of how much you will use it over its lifetime. Then compare with daily rental or monthly lease fees.

(10) Substitute. Where quality is comparable, consider the lower-priced alternative product. Don't believe you must remain loyal to an item you have always used. That's not loyalty, it's a habit — sometimes a bad habit in times like these.

NOTE: A third article in this series, discusses the advisability of bulk buying to beat inflation.

A large portion of the money will be used to purchase 78 full-sized buses and another 99 small buses for the elderly and handicapped.

Congressman Ford said some of the large buses will be used to supplement existing lines throughout Wayne County, and others will be utilized in creating two new bus lines — one on Northline Road from Biddle Avenue in Wyandotte through Southgate and Taylor to Southland Center, and the other on Schaefer Road from Jefferson to Greenfield and to the Fairlane Towne Center.

The smaller buses will enable SEMTA to triple its elderly-handicapped service in the Downriver area over the coming year.

The balance of the grant money will be used to rehabilitate existing rail lines, upgrade parking facilities, and improve communications for the wide-spread SEMTA system.

Old World Market opens tomorrow

Detroit's first Ethnic Festival, the 50-year-old original Old World Market will take place Thursday through Sunday at The International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit, 111 E. Kirby at the corner of John R in Detroit's Cultural Center.

The 4-day annual gala event will feature the demonstration and sale of old world crafts that Detroit's many immigrant communities have brought with them to the new world over the last fifty years.

On the agenda for the four days of festivities are Mrs. Daskaloff's Bulgarian Meat Ball Soup, Mrs. Spargo's Estonian Wood Burning, Japanese songs by Toma and Yuki Mack, along with an outdoor German beer tent, which also features wine and sandwiches, join-in folk dancing in the street and continuous music and entertainment.

"The most unique Christmas shopping in metropolitan Detroit is a highlight of the Old World Market," said Hazel Boltwood of Southfield, market chairperson. "The ethnic communities of Detroit join in for this one event to show off the last practitioners of their lost arts and to import the finest handicrafts from the old country."

An addition to the market this year is the "For Children Only" booth where children can buy inexpensive gifts from around the world for their own Christmas gift giving, said Mrs. Boltwood.

Food also is a key to the 4-day event. A visitor might assemble the thick and hearty Bulgarian Meat Ball Soup or Greek Lemon Soup, Greek or French bread, Norwegian sausage with red cabbage or a Danish anebleskiver, a round ball type of crepe. Other countries who will offer specialties are Romania, Mexico, Turkey, the Philippines and the Arab world.

For dessert The International Pastry Shop at the Market features 50 different international baked pastries. The International Institute's first cookbook, "Cuisine International", a 300-page volume offering ethnic recipes gathered from kitchens in ethnic communities throughout metropolitan Detroit, will be on sale.

A traveling American dulcimer player and Ukrainian bandurist player will circulate through the market. Continuous music and dance performances of the Hungarian, Italian, Ukrainian, Armenian, Polish, Filipino, African, Estonian, Greek and Russian as well as an Akido judo exhibit, are scheduled.

Some of the craft demonstrations will include the making of delicate Japanese dolls, Faberge eggs, Ukrainian egg painting called Pysanky, Estonian wood burning, Polish, Belgian and French lacemaking, glass blowing, Japanese leather craft and Japanese stained glass making. Ukrainian cross stitching, old world woodcarving and modern Polish tapestry making.

Unusual items for sale will include French Canadian Mukluk boots, French dolls, Norwegian crystal and porcelain, Lithuanian amber, South American dough dolls, African carvings and worldwide tapestries, weavings, baskets and knitware. The Old World Market was founded during the Depression, 10 years after the International Institute was founded. It was a way for the great number of new immigrants in Detroit to show the craft skills they had brought from the old country and make the desperately needed money to survive the Depression.

"The tradition has grown every year as the ethnic communities of Detroit have grown and prospered — as a way to keep ethnic heritages alive and to help support the work of The International Institute," said Mary Ball, executive director of the institute.

The institute, a Torch Drive agency, has been welcoming and aiding new immigrants to the Detroit area for 60 years. It has a multi-lingual social service department which saw nearly 2,000 clients last year. It also offers ethnic education programs for school children throughout the metropolitan area. English language classes for the foreign born and a series of continuous ethnic events representing the different ethnic communities of metropolitan Detroit.

The market will run from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Thursday and Friday, Oct. 4 and 5; 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 6, and 12 noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 7.

Admission is $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children and $1 for seniors. Special advance group rates also are available. For more information call the International Institute at 871-8600.

EMU Theatrical season opens with 'Syracuse'

The 1979-80 Eastern Michigan University theatrical season, which begins Oct. 10 in Quirk Theater, will feature a musical comedy, mime, a play written in 1697, a recently published work and haunting dramatizations of two novels.

"The Boys From Syracuse," a musical comedy by Rodgers and Hart, will be presented Oct. 10 through 14 and Oct. 18 through 20 at 8 p.m. This 1930s' musical comedy combines romance, humor, intrigue and just plain tomfoolery. Ballads like "This Can't Be Love" and "Falling in Love With Love" and character songs like "Song For Your Supper" are showcased in the play. The comedy will be directed by Ken Stevens, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts.

A full evening of silent entertainment will hit the Quirk Theater stage with "The Big Time Pantomime Show" Oct. 26 through 28 at 8 p.m. Directed by James Gousseff, professor of speech and dramatic arts, the EMU MasterMimes will present a "three-ring circus of mime," pantomime and mask. Sixteen new scripts, ranging from the preposterous to the profound, the farcical to the far out and the comic crisis to the tragic paroxysm, will be performed.

Virginia Koste, professor of speech and dramatic arts, will direct "The Masque Of Beauty and the Beast," Dec. 7 through 9 at matinee and evening performances. American playwright-producer Michael Elliot Brill wrote this haunting theatrical retelling of the immortal fairy tale of life and death enchantment and transformation through love. The play was just recently published.

Quirk Theater audiences will be treated to "The Provoked Wife" Feb. 5 through 10 at 8 p.m. Written by Sir John Vanbrugh in 1697, this comedy of love and marriage paints a devastating picture of a corrupt and fashionable society after the English Restoration. The comedy balances laughter and social criticism and was produced on the English stage for more than 50 years. P. George Bird, professor of speech and dramatic arts, will direct "The Provoked Wife."

The forceful dramatization of Thomas Wolfe's autobiographical novel "Look Homeward, Angel," will be performed March 25 through 30 at 8 p.m. The play, written by Ketti Frings, was thunderously acclaimed when it opened on Broadway in 1957 winning the Pulitzer Prize in playwriting and the New York Critic's Award as the best play of the season. It is the story of a young man's tortuous attempt to escape adolescence and will be directed by Parker Zellers, professor of speech and dramatic arts.

"As I Lay Dying," by William Faulkner and adapted and directed by Annette Martin, an associate professor of speech and dramatic arts, will be performed April 11 through 13 at 8 p.m. Faulkner's darkly comic novel traces the simple story of a hill folk family and its journey through flood and fire to bury the family's mother. EMU audiences will see an original Chamber Theater adaptation for the Quirk stage.

Season and individual tickets for the EMU Player's productions are available in the Quirk Theater box office from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. each weekday. Tickets for general admittance are $3.50; EMU students will be admitted for $2.25.

For further information on tickets, or to make a phone reservation, call the box office at 487-1221.

'Press Week'

Since the establishment by James Franklin, brother of Benjamin, of the New England Courant in 1721, the press in this country has successfully resisted all efforts by government to restrict or license its right to gather and disseminate the news. But this fight has been neither without cost or hardship.

We feel it is appropriate that during National Newspapers week, citizens of the community be reminded once again of the price extracted from countless men for their dedication to the principle of a free press.

James Franklin, founder of the first truly "free press", dared to challenge the government's regulations requiring licensing and the bowing to officials pressures of publishing by 'authority'.

Franklin, in 1722 refused to halt his outspoken attacks on the government. Following his criticism of the authorities for their ineffective defense of Boston waters from pirates, he was hauled into court and eventually jailed for contempt.

Once free, Franklin again took up his attack on the authorities but within a year, was again tried before a General Court and barred for life from ever again printing or publishing the New England Courant.

Franklin had paid the price for establishing in America, the principle of publishing without authority.

The next serious threat to the free and unrestricted publishing of newspapers occurred in 1798, with passage of the Alien and Sedition Act.

One provision of the new law declared that any person writing, publishing or uttering any false, scandalous or malicious statements against the government could be punished by imprisonment. For the next two years, more than 19 indictments were handed down under the provisions of the Sedition Act.

Those editors who had dared to resist the silencing of the news had paid the price for their defense of a free press. Many of them were ruined for life, both physically and mentally, as the result of their actions.

Today, it is unlikely that the reader of a newspaper is fully aware of the implications of a free press. Relaxing comfortably, while reading accounts of the actions of their elected officials, or, discovering through a feature story the contribution of one of their neighbors, may not appear to represent the high level of achievement that it does. But it is indeed a level of achievement that millions throughout the world would fight to gain.

It is of course difficult to speculate about how our country might have developed without freedom of the press, but you can be assured that a democratic society could not have long survived without the probing eye of 'a free press.'

Experience has shown that time after time, the party in power will inevitably abuse that power in the interests of expediency.

Without a free press, unrestrained by government and supported by the people, this great system that we must all concede is the best yet that man has been able to conceive, would have most certainly perished from the face of the earth.

This week has been designated National Newspaper Week. We feel it would be fitting for you to once again take stock of what this great country has provided you with.

This country would not exist today as we know it, without 'A Free Press'.

Question of the week:

"Would you favor a system of annual vehicle safety inspection which would be designed to identify and correct faulty equipment on automobiles such as lights, brakes, windshield wipers, steering, etc.?"

The system proposed would provide for annual inspections of motorized vehicles in the State of Michigan and would create inspection stations which would be private facilities, licensed by the state to inspect vehicles for the safe operation of lights, turn signals, windshield wipers, horn, steering mechanism, brakes, tires and exhaust system. The Michigan State Police would be charged with the responsibility for the supervision of this system and to structure the inspections to minimize potential fraud and abuse.

Many motorists are operating vehicles that have faulty equipment which potentially could cause a serious accident or even loss of life.

To give your comments on this subject, please phone Rep. Jack Kirksey on Saturday, October 6 between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. He will take your calls and discuss this important issue with you. The phone number is: 422-0750.

Legislative priorities

By DAVID A. PLAWECKI
State Senator

Making auto homeowners insurance available at fair rates is one of the legislature's top priorities for this fall.

Many Detroit area residents have been refused auto or homeowners insurance simply because of where they live. Such persons then have no choice but to purchase insurance from the state's auto and homeowners pools, which offer less coverage at higher rates.

Besides the location of their residence, drivers find that sex, age and marital status are also important determinants in their insurance costs. I believe such rating factors are unfair, and that an individual's driving record should be the primary factor in determining one's insurance rates.

A bill requiring the individual characteristics of drivers and homeowners to be the primary determinants in insurance rate-setting has been passed by the legislature, but there are some differences between the Senate and House versions. A joint Senate-House committee will soon be ironing out those differences, and we should have a new insurance law on the books in the next few weeks.

Other issues the legislature will be tackling this fall include:

— Wayne County re-organization - While I think it's imperative that the legislature financially assist debt-ridden Wayne County, I also believe any major revisions in the county's governmental structure should be made by the county's residents, not by the legislature or governor.

— Wetlands - This controversial legislation, now before the House, would prohibit landowners from draining, filling or developing wetlands over five acres without state approval. I voted for this bill, which passed the Senate last May, because I believe it is important to preserve these spawning grounds and habitats of much of our wildlife.

— Government - "Sunset" legislation requiring a review of the effectiveness of all state agencies and programs and conflict-of-interest standards for all government officials are two important bills now before the legislature, both of which I support.

— Labor - Worker's compensation reform will be the focus of considerable attention. The legislative task force trying to resolve that issue recessed to compile additional data specifically with regard to cost-of-living formulas, but should resume work shortly.

As Co-Chairman of that task force, I am guardedly optimistic that this year we will reach agreement on a reform package that provides greater equity to workers and employers alike.

Also scheduled for fall consideration in the Labor Committee, which I chair, is a review of our state's occupational safety and health act. Among the proposed changes my committee will be examining are: the procedure for "tagging" equipment found unsafe by state inspectors; a determination as to who should pay for safety equipment for workers; employee access to their health records; expenses for persons serving on advisory committees; and walk-around pay for workers involved in a MIOSHA investigation.

A review of our unemployment compensation system, including an examination of benefit levels and a more precise definition of voluntary quits, is also on the fall agenda for the Labor Committee.

The legislature will also be working on improved home heating assistance for the elderly and poor, an updated juvenile code, final implementation of the Proposal E tax limitation amendment and some last details on the state budget. We'll also be looking at proposed changes in Michigan's presidential primary and returnable bottle and can law.

In all, it should be an exciting and productive fall legislative session.

Chamber Chatter

Thwarted initiative

By RICHARD L. LESHNER
President, Chamber of Commerce of the United States

"I don't make jokes," Will Rogers once said. "I just watch the government and report the facts." The great American humorist made that comment years ago. But what about today? What if he were with us now and had to report, for example, what just happened to Jody Gerard, a 12-year-old entrepreneur from Eddyville, New York? Could Will Rogers still keep a straight face while reporting everything the state's tax authorities have done to keep this young worm grower from wiggling off their hook?

You be the judge. Jody Gerard is no ordinary young man. He raises, digs and sells backyard worms — lots of them. And at 35 cents a dozen for Red Wigglers (a dozen of his prize Glass Worms will cost you 55 cents), he has established a growing business and a solid reputation as a hard worker.

But one day this summer, Jody received a letter from the Department of Taxation that put the bite into his worm business. The authorities had learned Jody had not been collecting sales taxes on his worm deals. They wanted their money... and they threatened to get tough and haul Master Gerard into court if he did not promptly contact them.

So he did. Frightened out of his wits, he telephoned a tax official and explained he was only 12 years old and had no intention of breaking any laws — especially those he knew nothing about. There was a pause. The bureaucrats huddled, then told him to await their instructions. They would consult further then get back to him with their decision.

About a week later, the answer came. Like it or not, Jody would have to pay the tax. New York State had decided his worms were tangible legal property. But about that same time, the story got out that a very enterprising young man felt he was being treated badly by his state government. Letters, supporting Jody, began pouring into Eddyville's post office — some from as far away as Switzerland. To date, well-wishers have mailed Jody more than $80 to cover his first quarter tax bill of 64 cents.

Confronted with a rash of negative publicity, the bureaucracy began to bend... slightly. One official who was reportedly "proud" of the way the whole affair had been handled, later claimed to have been misquoted. Promises were made to seek legislative relief so that minors with small businesses would be exempt from paying sales taxes. And in one majestically expensive gesture of sweet reasonableness, a state official was sent all the way to Jody's home just to help him fill out his tax forms.

What's been accomplished? Government, so reluctant, so incapable of spending less and living within its means, has once again proved it will spare almost no time, effort or expense in defending its power to reap the rewards of someone else's risks.

Yet look at the price we must all pay. As soon as Jody learned he had a problem with the tax department, he closed down his worm stand. Then the other kids in town, fearing they too might be violating the law and might be slapped with heavy fines, began taking down their signs and closing their stands. Today, the worm business in Eddyville has dried up. Gone too is a small spark of that vital spirit of self-initiative, and not just now — not just for the bait business — but perhaps for later in life, for more ambitious pursuits.

Eddyville is just one small mountain town. But what happened there is an important microcosm of the kind of bureaucratic overkill that is doing so much to destroy business initiative and growth all across America. Government doesn't create progress, people do — millions of people like Jody Gerard who latch onto an idea to provide a product or a service others want or need. When will we wake up and have the intelligence and faith to place America's future back in their hands?

Belleville's lake

Editor:

Once again I feel impelled to speak out.

I recently drove down Haggerty road passing the public access site to Belleville Lake... and was simply appalled by the "mess". Why would anyone, including the state, be proud of the junk dumped there?

If your yard looked like that — neighbors would complain and certainly have a right to do so, and then you would have to remove it... I complain!

This lovely resource, the lake, is now for the exclusive use of private individuals (already using Township property at no cost to contain docks and seawalls), and commercial enterprises. You, I and the rest of the people are excluded!

Who paid to stock the Lake?? I ask this question: Will these exclusive people cover the cost, for county patrol? For upkeep? For studies? For court cases? As well as go to jail in defense of this lovely lake?

Many people that I know who do live on the lake felt no qualms when they shared her. They weren't consulted, only the few that have been so verbal have taken it upon themselves not only to close the lake, but also to do it so wantonly.

I had read articles regarding the attitudes of these very few people about the site, but the dawn arrived when I saw this mess.

I feel that love of the lake could not have caused this, it had to be very private and narrow interests.

If, as it was suggested in the articles some individuals paid to create this eyesore, let them pay to clean it up. However, in the meanwhile our township supervisor checked with the state and was told that they indeed said it could be closed, but of course under questioning, they did not say with junk.

However, this is all beside the point.

I ask, and ask others who feel that this is not the way to treat a pleasurable pastime lake with respect, please join with me and ask the township to issue ordinance measures to clean this area immediately.

At the present time all access to the lake is private, the state closes its launch site on Labor Day (rules you know) and all monies now go into private hands. Is it fair for the public to foot the bill nine months of the year, for 3 months use?

Our future residents and neighbors have to develop the affection for Belleville lake shared by this Community, and then perhaps when the time comes to share the cost of the care for this man made Lake, they will be happy to do so because of their participation in its recreational uses.

Remember, it will always be a part of us, whether we use it or not.

Helping out

Editor:

The Ann Arbor Center for Independent Living, serving handicapped residents of Washtenaw county, would like to express its gratitude to the organizations, businesses, and individuals who have given so generously to support Center programs and activities during the past year (1978-79).

Since the Center exists to serve all handicapped individuals, especially the severely handicapped, it is they who have benefited most from the contributions of time and money from citizens throughout the county.

Numerous citizens of the county have repeatedly involved themselves in supporting the Center through the donation of money, products, and volunteer services.

With the collective efforts of organizations, businesses, and individuals, the Center has been able to expand services to respond to the needs of handicappers. If all the Center needed was such involvement, our future would be secure, however, funding has become a critical factor to the continuation of Center supportive services promoting independent life styles for handicapped individuals.

The Center now finds itself in a crisis prompted by the ending of one Federal program and a delay in new Federal support which will not be realized until mid- or late 1980. In the interim we need and request operational dollars from a wide variety of sources in the county.

Your contribution could be the determining factor in this non-profit agency's survival.

The Center is the only consumer based, advocacy organization serving Washtenaw and nearby Southeastern counties, and is one of three in all of Michigan. Services provided complement those of other human service agencies through the provision of unique supportive information and referral, education and training, and advocacy services needed by handicapped individuals and other agencies serving them.

In summary, a special thank you is extended to those who have assisted us in the past, and our appreciation goes to those readers who will consider helping us in the future.

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol,
Recently on television I saw a show about scaring kids so they wouldn't get in trouble. My son (16 years old) is not a bad boy, however, he has been in some trouble with the cops. Do you think I should send him to get straightened out — let him go to a prison for a day. Is this really a good idea?

Parent

Dear Parent,
Probably not. As a matter of fact if I recall correctly, that particular program is an abysmal failure. People always like to feel that they are special and apart, that is will happen to the next guy, to someone else, never to him. For heavens sake, if criminals thought they were going to go to prison for life or get killed during the commission of a crime, how many do you feel would hop right up there and do it anyway? I'm afraid it would just put a challenge in front of most insecure young people. And I think you will find security, love and structure a far greater deterrent than challenge.

Dear Carol,

I was invited to a wedding of an acquaintance. It was clearly pointed out she was registered in a specific store. Taking the hint I checked what she was registered for. I was appalled at the high prices. Nothing in the list was in a range for one person to buy the gift unless they were willing to buy one knife and one fork, or one cup and one saucer.

This leads to my question. Do you think this traditional helping of newlyweds is going to continue, what with people living together, more people staying single and people becoming frustrated with the high price of establishing others with china, crystal and 2 sets of silverware (when they most likely have mismatched pieces themselves).

Cheap Gift

Dear Cheap Gift,

I am not too sure that most people know about the tradition you are referring to, let alone actively seek to perpetuate it. It used to be that in a town when a marriage was arranged, the older, more well established citizens and relatives would get together and share gifts with the young couple to help them begin to establish their household.

Those rules are not in effect today but it is rather a celebration of a wedding. Obviously not only the well established or affluent are invited.

It seems that the most practical approach would be to purchase a gift which you can afford. If, after looking at what the bride is registered for, you can't afford anything, by all means get something else. How about money, I understand most couples can use it.

This is one I'd like to hear more on from my readers. What do you do with the increasing number of gift giving situations and the rising prices.

Dear Carol,

I know that almost all other countries use the metric system. Now I would like you to compare our country with all the others. And just write me how many come close to the U.S.A. in any way. So why should we want the change? And why do so many people come to our country? So if we have the best, why not let them do the changing.

J.K.

Dear J.K.,

Little did I realize that my response to the use of the metric system in the United States would be construed as a slam on my country.

Of course, I feel that the United States is the best country to live in but need I point out that it is also the United States that is pushing for the acceptance of the metric system.

I believe they feel it is a much easier concept to teach as it is based on multiples of ten rather than twelve. Change comes very hard, whether the change is for the best or not, we never give in easily. Of course, that's one of the nice aspects of the United States — the chance to voice opinions, even opposing ones.

Environmental hazards

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I don't know about higher education. I have this kid who graduated from college last summer. You may remember him, he's the one who could give me music for my electric toothbrush, who could get toast from the dishwasher and who used to love nothing better than to grapple with the giant in the washing machine. He was a great little kid.

He was neat, too. His shoes were always lined up on his desk, his clothes were on the floor BEHIND the closet door, and when he got through in the bathroom, he left towels FOLDED in the sink.

That was before he got educated. When that kid comes home from work he begins undressing at the front door. Shoes are left in the front hall, socks thrown in to land wherever, and coat hung on the doorknob. When he goes to bed he just steps out of whatever he has left on his body and leaves it in a little heap.

After seven months of just stepping out and leaving, he has quite a pile. This makes it difficult because whenever he gets a telephone call he can't hear us call him through all that insulation, and I have to go in his room and lift up shirts, underwear, pants or soggy towels looking for him.

This tends to make him indignant, especially when I mistake him for George (our dog) and pull his ears.

A few weeks after he had come home I took a shovel and a rake and sweated and toiled for several hours after which I had made a really neat little path leading to the bathroom, and another neat little path leading to his bed.

Was this kid appreciative? He hollered and yelled because he couldn't find his bank book which had been in the back pocket of his jeans which hadn't gotten enough fading done to them, and because I had disarranged his room and made a couple of paths, his bankbook was lost forever.

After his bankbook was found downstairs in the den he told me he wanted me to stay out of his room, which, being a good mother and a lousy housekeeper, anyway, I have done.

There isn't anyone but he and George (the dog) who will even venture to open the door to his room, lest they be buried in the avalanche, but somehow the kid and his dog seems to be able to burrow in for the night without suffocating.

Therefore, after all of this you can imagine my bewilderment, when the kid came leaping up the stairs shouting "Mom, Mom, I've found an apartment."

"Oh, are you moving?" I asked, backing away from his door before he could open it. "Yep..."

Naturally I looked at him and saw a little boy standing there, and the realization came that when he left this time he would never come back home to live, and there would be one clean room waiting, waiting ... My throat choked up and tears popped into my eyes.

"Why, so suddenly ..." I began. He stared at me impatiently and then threw open the door of his room. He was almost crushed in the avalanche as shoes, socks, pants, ski's, tennis racquets, baseball gloves and neckties came tumbling through.

"Need you ask?" he shouted, backing away from the flying debris. "I can't stand the environment in this house."

'Playing catch up'

By EDWIN FEULNER

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, who ruled Communist Russia from November 1917 until early in 1924, sounded as clear a warning to the West as we might ever hear. "The bourgeoisie," he said, "will supply us with the rope... (with which) it will hang itself."

Recent history shows that this latter-day Ivan The Terrible knew only too well what he was talking about.

And it's not Coca-Cola or Pepsi. There is wide agreement throughout the West that the Soviet Union will lay claim to the world's most destructive military arsenal in the next few years. As the United States was pouring money into a no-win war in Indochina, the experts advise, the Soviets were pouring money into missiles, heavy trucks, and the most modern Navy in the world — building their war machine.

Now the United States will have to play catch up.

But it always has been thought that the U.S. could catch up because while the Soviets may enjoy superior military brawn, the U.S. enjoys superior military brain. In other words, while they may have more, we have better.

However, analysts are no longer that certain. And they are doubly concerned (remember the words of Lenin) because it appears that the United States has graciously supplied much of the technology the Soviets have used to close the gap.

The fall guy in the scenario appears to be the U.S. Commerce Department, which, according to an analysis in Heritage Foundation's National Security Record, has done an inadequate job discriminating between U.S. technologies which have military potential, and those which do not.

Under the 1969 Export Administration Act, governing sales of technology to the Soviet bloc, the Commerce Department has the principal authority to enforce national security export controls.

The Defense Department has only a secondary, consultative role, in spite of DoD's superior expertise in assessing what technologies may have military significance.

As a result, U.S. know-how is now being used in the production of Soviet trucks, tanks, missiles, and similar war-making machinery.

As the U.S. defense technology lead over the Soviets erodes, the argument that U.S. technological superiority offsets Soviet quantitative advantages in strategic weaponry becomes less and less convincing," the study says.

Ironically, the editors say, "it is clear that much of the improvement in Soviet military and strategic weapons systems has been due to U.S. technology, rather than to purely Soviet initiatives undertaken in response to the U.S."

They conclude that if the Soviets can divert peaceful technology to military ends "they will," and that only better, more careful administration by the U.S. can prevent this.

The matter is now before Congress, which appears to be moving slowly, but in the right direction. While it has not stolen any headlines from the SALT treaty, this issue — more strictly controlling the sales of goods and technologies with military potential — could be even more important in the long run.

Harris named to panel

Wayne County Commissioner Edgar Harris (D-Taylor) has been appointed to the National Association of Counties (NACo) Land Use and Growth Management policy steering committee by NACo President Francis B. Francois.

Harris is a member of Wayne County's Ways and Means and Public Works committees and has been instrumental in helping to create the new Economic Development Corporation (EDC), which promotes industrial construction and expansion within the county.

In his letter informing Harris of his appointment, Francois said: "It is a privilege to have you as a member of the Land Use and Growth Management policy steering committee of NACo, and we are looking forward, as a representative of Wayne County, to your assistance in determining our national policy along those lines."

NACo's steering committees study issues, recommend new policy positions and interpret the American County Platform, the official policy making arm of NACo.

MCC prints comprehensive consumer list

The Michigan Consumers Council has released a comprehensive list of consumer groups, located throughout the state.

"Many people have called our toll-free Guideline service wondering about other consumer groups in the state," said the council's deputy director, Kent Wilcox. "Some consumers wanted to know where to file a specific complaint on the local level, while others were interested in getting involved in a consumer issue. Because of this interest, we researched and compiled this list."

The publication lists more than 30 groups which mediate complaints or lobby for special consumer concerns on both the state and local levels.

"Consumers may now be able to pinpoint an agency or coalition near them which is sensitive to the concern they have," Wilcox explained. "We hope it will help reduce some of the frustration consumers experience when they're referred all over the state for the answer to a simple question."

The variety of groups lets consumers get involved in just about any consumer issue. For example, the list includes information about groups interested in health care, landlord-tenant issues and nuclear power.

"We feel consumers can have a direct impact on the laws and policies which affect their daily lives," Wilcox added. "Finding a group which can use and appreciate their time and energy may give consumers the opportunity to do so."

For a free copy of the consumers groups' list, write the Michigan Consumers Council, 414 Hollister Building, 106 W. Allegan, Lansing 48933, or call the Consumers Council Guideline at 1-800-292-5680.

Football fans traveling to East Lansing for the Michigan State University of Michigan game Saturday should encounter few traffic problems on routes leading to the stadium area, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. East Lansing streets leading to parking near Spartan Stadium are one-way inbound prior to the game and one-way outbound afterward. There is parking for approximately 18,000 vehicles with a $2 charge at campus-operated lots. Shuttle buses are available at the campus commuter lot at Farm Lane and Mt. Hope (not shown on map). The commuter lot has free parking for 6,000 vehicles with round-trip shuttle costing 75 cents. The lot can be reached by exiting northbound I-496 at Jolly Road, one mile north of I-96, and by following the signs posted along the way. Kickoff for the game is 1:30 p.m. Auto Club advises motorists to arrive at parking lots no later than 12:45 p.m. to avoid missing the kickoff.

Wayne reaches for 'grid greatness'

Can Carter's troops stop No. 1 state ranked Fordson?

In order to reach greatness, a philosopher once wrote, the opportunity must be there.

Wayne will have that once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to stand on the pedestal of football fame Friday night when Coach Floyd Carter's unbeaten Zebras take on the No. 1 ranked state Class A team, Dearborn Fordson.

More than 5,000 high school football fans are expected to jam into Wayne Memorial stadium to watch the classic duel between the two Great Lakes 8 conference arch-adversaries.

Fordson is coming off of a stunning 32-6 victory over Monroe, while Wayne defense shut out its fourth consecutive opponent, Taylor Center, 18-0. (The only points Wayne has given up this season was a safety in the Riverview game. And the offense accepted the blame for that one.)

"Fordson is a superb football team," Carter said. "They play tough on defense and have been averaging 30 to 35 points on offense.

This will be a fine test for us."

Wayne's defense must somehow contain the Tractors' two explosive runningbacks, Ed Guido and Mike McGowan. The Zebras can counter with senior tailback Don Shumpert and junior runningback Rick Rogers. However, Rogers is suffering from an ankle injury. In fact, he didn't see action last Friday at Taylor Center.

Will he be ready for Fordson?

"It's no secret that we held him out last week, fearing further injury," Carter said. "We hope he'll be ready, but, if he isn't, we have some other kids who look good."

One of those candidates is Wayne Davis who rushed for 68-yards on 15 carries and scored one of the three Zebra touchdowns against Taylor.

Carter stressed that his team can't afford to make the mistakes it has in the past and expect to emerge with the victory. "Fordson really capitalizes on your mistakes and we can't do it and expect to beat them," he said.

The first two times Wayne got the ball at Taylor it scored. After Wayne received the opening kick-off, quarterback Rick Covault seemed together a 68-yard, 11-play drive which ended with Shumpert scooting three-yards into the Rams' end zone.

Covault's contribution to that drive was a 31-yard around right end gain, while Shumpert was singled out to carry the ball six of the 11 times.

Pete Tavana tried the extra point and it was blocked. After Wayne's second touchdown, the Zebras went for a two-pointer, using the fake-kick play which didn't work. Tavana conversion attempt after the third TD sailed wide of the upright.

Taylor's first and only series of the first quarter was aborted when Gary Mazurek, a shortside halfback, glued his finers on to a deflected Scott Littlefield pass. Wayne took over on its own 26-yard line.

It took Covault another 11 plays, one of which was his 16-yard pass to Larry Wilson. That put the Zebras at the one-yard line where Shumpert dove over for his fourth touchdown. (Continued on Page B-4)

Coaches say Wolverines will do it

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

When the University of Michigan Wolverines come out of their trenches Saturday in East Lansing and clash with Michigan State's Spartans there is no doubt in most football coaches' minds in this area what the outcome of that battle will be - the Wolverines will emerge victorious.

And they will have avenged last year's upset to the gang that is purportedly going to go to the Rose Bowl in January.

Listen to this:

"I think MSU is teetering on the brink of disaster because their quarterbacks took a beating against Notre Dame," said Livonia Franklin's Armand Vigna. "I don't think that MSU can bounce back in that short of time.

"And if we go by comparative scores - though that is not a solid basis - however, Notre Dame was lucky to get by Michigan, and I don't think the Irish had any problems with the Spartans," Vigna pointed out.

Wayne Memorial's Steve Schwartz, a biased Wolverine, used a strange criterion to determine why he favored Bo's boys.

That criterion was 'loyalty'.

"After all, I helped with the stats for the football team while I was in school," Schwartz said. "And I have to remain loyal, don't I? But, seriously, I don't think there is a finer defensive unit in the country than the Wolverines and with MSU's two quarterbacks hurting, it should add up to a Michigan victory.

"It will be close, however, added Schwartz.

So that our readers will not be confused - Schwartz is NOT the head football coach at Wayne Memorial. That honor belongs to Floyd Carter. But, because of Schwartz' mathematical ability, he is used as the team's statistician. (And we're very grateful for his help).

One coach who believes that it will be "no contest" and Michigan will rack up an easy victory is Tom LaBeau, New Boston Huron's head strategist. Despite the natural rivalry between the two schools, LaBeau says: "Pick Michigan without any hesitation. The Wolverines will get them this year."

Jerry Pawloski at Inkster Cherry Hill agrees:

"Michigan State upset them (Michigan) last year. And I just don't think that they can beat them two years in a row. I do believe, though, that it will be closer than most people think."

Closer than your game with Schafer? (Cherry Hill lost to its Tri-River Conference rivals last Saturday in the last 20 seconds when the Eagles put the decisive touchdown on the scoreboard to win, 18-14).

What do I think?

I'm not a betting man, of course. And I always like to go with the underdogs. But in this particular game, I have to go with that team from Ann Arbor. They have too much for the Spartans. Besides my wife went to MSU. She says I'm always wrong.

This time I think I got her.

Speaking of close games, probably the one played between the Belleville Cougar's Junior Varsity and the Westland Comets earned a niche in the books as the "closest ever" in the Little League.

(I'm going to violate one of the league's rules and mention the players' names because the story wouldn't sound right if I didn't.)

Anyway, the Westland Comets appeared to have the victory all sewed up. With 44 seconds remaining the Comets had a 12-0 lead, however, the Cougars had possession of the ball. Then, the proverbial roof collapsed on the Comets.

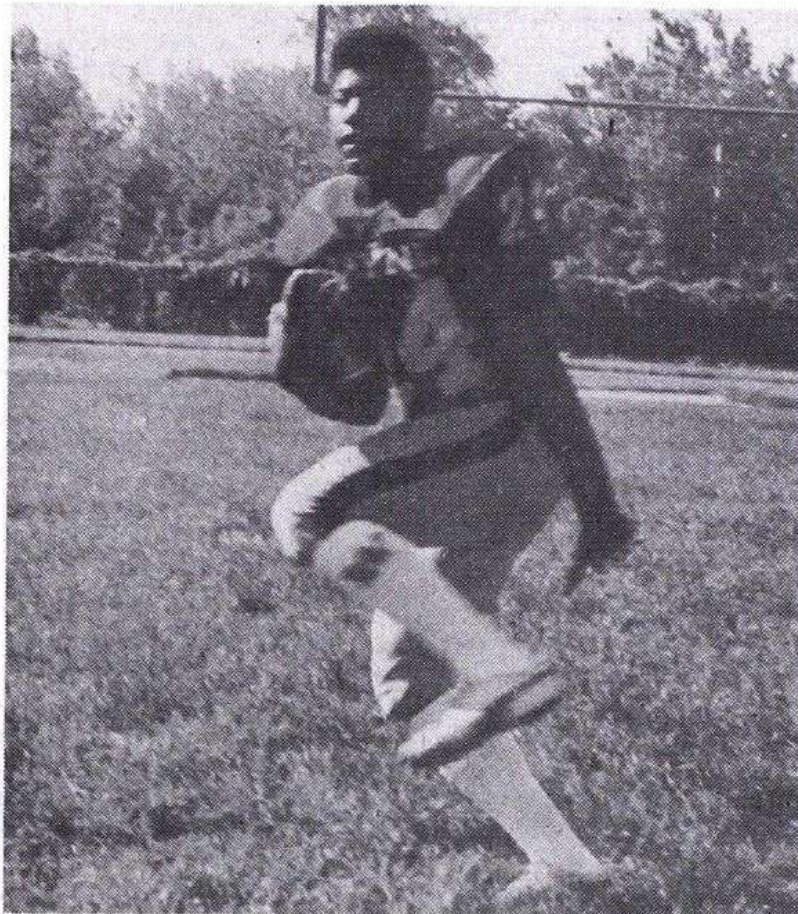

Derrick Dowling managed to score from the 20 to tie the score at 6-all and, after the ensuing kickoff, there were eight seconds left. The Comets attempted a play - and you guessed it - they fumbled. Belleville's Millar Thomas scooped up the delinquent ball and raced back 47 yards for the winning touchdown.

There were a lot of frowns on faces on the Comets' side of the field.

There were a lot of happy faces on the Cougars' side.

And both teams learned that all important lesson which coaches have preached since the beginning of time: "The game isn't over until the final whistle!"

Will he do his thing?

While Wayne Memorial prepares for the invasion of the No. 1 ranked team in the state, Fordson's, the big question in these parts is whether Wayne's runningback Rick Rogers will be strong enough to play. Rogers, (above), has been hobbling on an injured ankle and didn't see action last Friday. His sterling performance against Belleville in the season opener established him as one of the backs to watch in the area. Fordson and Wayne enter Friday's skirmish with identical 4-0 records, but the Tractors have the coveted No. 1 ranking in the state, while Wayne has been overlooked by both major polls.

Inkster snaps losing streak

There seems to be an inexplicable something about Willow Run that brings forth the best out of Inkster High's football squad.

Winless in their three previous starts and considered underdogs Friday night, Inkster rallied to a 12-6 victory over the Flyers to post their first victory of the 1979 season.

"We played our best game of the year," commented Inkster Coach Arnie James who obviously is hoping the magic doesn't wear off the rest of the season. "We finally managed to do some things right."

Inkster pulled out the victory in the last five minutes of the game when Robert Claypoole scored his second touchdown of the day, a three-yard, up-the-middle jaunt.

Claypoole's TD preceded a blocked Willow Run punt by tackle Roy Jones which was recovered on the Flyer 18-yard line by Derrick Stephenson.

Willow Run's dreams of victory up were shattered by cornerback Keith Hughley who intercepted a stray pass which returned the ball back to the Vikings at midfield.

Willow Run drew first blood. In the waning minutes of the first half the Flyers took a 6-0 lead, but, 45 seconds before intermission, Claypoole struck paydirt on a five-yard run that was set up on a 38-yard pass from quarterback Kim Hammonds to Stephenson.

Claypoole tried for the two-point conversion and got nowhere.

Inkster wasted several excellent opportunities to get on the scoreboard. After the initial kick-off the Vikings drove inside the 20-yard line where penalties and missed blocking assignments caused them grief.

"If we could cash in on those opportunities that we work so hard to set up I feel we would do all-right," said Coach James. "But, when you're down there where you feel it's time to capitalize and a miscue or mental breakdown occurs, it really hurts you."

Stephenson's contribution to the offense included 56 yards on 13 rushes, while Claypoole's two touchdowns, 68-yards rushing on 12 attempts led the ballcarriers. Hammonds connected on 3 of 15 passes, but few would blame the Viking quarterback for the poor percentage. His receivers just couldn't hang on to the ball.

Jones who had two blocked punts and helped in the Viking ball control in the crucial closing minutes of the game also sacked the quarterback three times. Hughley, Dennis Foreman, a right linebacker, Earl Taylor, defensive end, and captain of the team, played major parts in the Vikings' first win.

Coach James pointed out, "that we don't have many players so most of the kids went both ways. I also have to say that Derrick Wyatt, Chris Thompson and Stevie Robinson were outstanding this week."

Inkster will return to the Suburban Athletic Conference wars on Friday when the Vikings try to improve a 0-1 SAC record at the expense of River Rouge. Rouge was overwhelmed by Highland Park 53-0 last week, and the Parkers now have the championship in their grasp.

R.U. routs Glenn, 25-7

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

You know all those rumors about Redford Union's undefeated football team being so strong?

Well, those rumors were dispelled completely Friday night. The big, bruising Panthers of Coach Harvey Heitman convinced John Glenn's football team and a large parents' night crowd that they are a real powerhouse in pounding their way past the Rockets, 25-7.

Redford Union completely dominated the game, even though Coach Chuck Gordon's Rockets barely trailed, 12-7, at the half. But even that proved to be an illusion as the Panthers pushed the Rockets around in the second half in rolling to their fourth consecutive victory.

Glenn's only flickering light of hope came in the last minute of the first half with Redford Union leading 12-0 and pounding toward its third score of the initial 24 minutes. With time quickly evaporating on the scoreboard clock, Coach Heitman called for a pass with a 3rd-and-five situation on Glenn's 20-yard line with 1:15 remaining.

Greg O'Neil, a 5-10, 160-pound defensive back, streaked in front of the intended R.U. receiver on Glenn's 15-yard-line, intercepted the ball and broke into the open at the Rocket 25, sprinting down the western sidelines for the thrilling touchdown.

Junior tackle John Johnson added the extra point and Glenn had narrowed the gap to 12-7 with 1:01 left in the first half. It was especially lifting to the Rockets who had not managed even one first down in the half. They received two first downs by way of penalty, but had not earned a first down and had a total yardage of only 15 yards the entire first two quarters.

Redford Union scored twice, the last series they had the ball in the first quarter and the first series they touched the pigskin in the second quarter. Fullback Bob Friedman, a bruising 6-foot-2, 195-pound senior, blasted over for both TDs. His first four-yard touchdown capped a 59-yard drive in nine plays. His second four-yard burst to paydirt ended a scoring march set up by a Glenn fumble on its own 41-yard line.

The Panthers moved 41 yards in only seven plays to raise the score to 12-0. The only weakness R.U. has, it seems, is making the extra point after touchdowns. They missed three out of four.

Scoring just before the half, it seemed the Rockets would really be fired up. And when Redford Union was penalized 15 yards for holding on the first play of the second half, pinning them back on its own 10-yard-line, things looked pretty good for the home team.

However, halfback Bob Utych, a fleet 5-8, 160-pound halfback, and fullback Friedman, changed the picture in a hurry. With the Panther's offensive line tearing huge holes in Glenn's defensive wall, Utych and Friedman alternated in lugging the ball for first downs. The Blue and Gold rolled 90 yards in 10 plays to make it 19-7 as Friedman (Continued on Page B-4)

Franklin jolted by East

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

There's an unwritten law that every mistake an athlete or a team makes is excusable if he wins.

But when he - or the team - loses, the mistake is there, magnified for all to view. The pain is never gone.

And one mistake stands out like a graffe among saddened Livonia Franklin football fans, a mistake that cost Coach Armand Vigna's Patriots a 6-0 crushing defeat at the hands of Garden City East.

With no aerial coverage around for "miles", East's slick quarterback, Billy Orr fired a short over-the-line pass to tight end Brian Belcher who scampered 83-yards for what proved to be the only touchdown in the game between the two Northwest Suburban Conference rivals.

That third quarter score was all Coach Gary Humphrey's Panthers needed for the victory.

However, Franklin's precipitous decline can be traced to the first quarter and the second series of plays when its veteran field general, Jon McCarthy, sustained what could be a season-ending injury.

"We suspect that Jon dislocated his shoulder but we won't know for sure until after a doctor's examination," said Vigna whose Patriots now have dropped their last three games after winning their out-of-conference opener with Plymouth Salem.

Ironically, Salem has gone on to win three successive games.

It was the first time that East had beaten a Franklin football team since 1973, the year the Garden City school departed from the Mid-Wayne Conference and joined the Northwest.

Franklin had its chance to even the score. They blew it. The Patriots (Continued on Page B-4) said, "but mistakes hurt us. Obviously I'm disappointed."

One of the thorns in the Cherry Hill sides was its kicking game. Schafer's first two touchdowns were set up by weak punts. Schafer scored in the first quarter after taking over on the Spartan 20-yard line and in the second quarter they made it a 12-0 ball game thanks to a blocked punt.

"The only sustained drive Schafer managed to put together was its last one. That came in the final minutes of the game and ended with them scoring the winning touchdown," Pawloski said.

Cherry Hill got on the scoreboard in the second quarter when quarterback Aaron Gregory combined with Mike Johnson on a 60-yard touchdown pass. Randy Frederick chipped in the two-point conversion to make it a 12-8 half-time margin.

The Spartans finally erased the deficit and took the lead 14-12 with seven minutes left in the game. Bob Kosciulecki recovered a Schafer fumble at midfield to fire up the Spartans who took four plays to advance to the one-yard line where Johnson lunged over the goal-line for the go-ahead score.

With four minutes remaining, Schafer quarterback Don Baker went to the air for relief and hit on three key passes that gave the (Continued on Page B-4)

Will Willow Run oblige?

Romulus needs a victory

When you're down and out, everything seems to go wrong. And for winless Romulus almost everything did go wrong during a brief four minute span in their Friday afternoon encounter with Jackson Parkside.

Parkside put 21 points on the scoreboard during the last two minutes of the opening quarter and the first two minutes of the second quarter and went on to blank the Eagles 29-0, handing the hosts their fourth consecutive setback of the season.

Five fumbles, four of them going to the opposition, and a pair of pass interceptions, caused most of the Eagles' frustrations. Foley is hoping that this was the nadir of the season, and that the first step towards respectability will begin this Friday when a depressed Willow Run visits Romulus.

But Foley cautions: Willow Run is one of the quickest all-around teams that I have seen. They are pretty badly banged up against Bay City All-Saints and Inkster beat them in a close one a week ago. I figure they will be physically ready for us this week."

Inkster broke a three-game losing streak Friday at the Flyers' expense 12-6.

Parkside capitalized on a pair of mishandled Romulus' balls to score two touchdowns late in the first period. They then struck again thanks to the Eagles early in the second quarter for their third TD, grabbing a commanding 21-0 lead before the half. Parkside got their fourth touchdown in the third quarter.

Romulus came within one-yard of averting the shutout. Late in the game quarterback Marty Knight drove his team to the Parkside one-yard line where he had four downs to break through. However, the Eagles fumbled and Parkside recovered.

Knight, who replaced starting quarterback Dwayne Parker in the second quarter, went to the air early to make up the difference in the score. He had a commendable 14 of 22 pass completion ratio for 124 yards but, it was too little, too late.

Knight's primary receiver was Mark Schick, split end, who caught seven of those 14 completions for 58 yards, while tight end Richard Holt nabbed two catches for 47. One of Holt's nabs was good for 35 yards which sparked the Eagles in that final drive. Schick then hauled in a 32-yarder from Knight that advanced the hosts to the one. But they then fumbled, losing a chance to score.

Parker sustained a severe head blow and Foley didn't know if his senior quarterback will be back for this week's game. Also on the doubtful list is outside linebacker Mark Sullivan who suffered a fractured right hand.

Despite the lopsidedness of the score, Romulus did receive a couple of superlative defensive efforts from Green, who doubled as the middle linebacker when he wasn't running with the ball.

Green collected seven unassisted tackles, sacked the quarterback twice and also had three assists.

Tim Summerville chalked up three solos and seven assists and Sullivan, though sidelined in the first half, got four solos and three assists.

Shoo 'em away Shumpert

One reason why Wayne's offense has been clicking this year is because of the efforts of a up-and-at-them offensive line and a hustling back, Don Shumpert (4) who scored two touchdowns last week against Taylor Center. Fordson will have to find a way to stop him if they want to keep their No. 1 Class A state rating.

North Stars

It's on to Garden City for the Westland North Stars who managed to win two of three football games last week against the galloping Northville Colts.

The Comets will take on the Tigers 1 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 7 at Garden City East High School.

Meanwhile, the North Stars dropped their game to the Colts' freshmen 26-12, but the junior varsity revenge the defeat with a 19-9 victory.

The North Stars also won the rubber match as the Varsity came off the field with an impressive 14-7 victory. Both the junior varsity and varsity are 3-1 on the season, while the freshmen are 1-3.

Tri-City to hold basketball talks

Wayne, Westland and the Garden City parks and recreation departments have scheduled an organizational meeting for the Tri-City men's basketball league.

The meeting will be held 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 15 at the Melvin G. Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road in Westland.

Managers are urged to attend. Rules, entry fees and target dates will be discussed.

Players in this league must reside in either of the three cities involved or work 30 hours per week for an employer located in Wayne, Westland or Garden City. There is a rule however that will allow each team to pick up three non-residents.

For further information telephone Charles W. Pickering, Jr., league manager, at 722-7620.

Huron, undefeated Carlson clash

In a quixotic world is there anything more inspiring than to beat the unbeatable foe?

On Friday, New Boston Huron, which has won one of three games on the gridiron this season, will get its chance as the Chiefs square off with undefeated Carlson. Carlson will have the privilege of hosting the battle.

"They are a good football team," says Huron's Tom LaBeau whose Chiefs are trying to stop internal bleeding caused by Monroe Catholic Central a week ago. "Carlson's record (4-0) speaks for itself, and we have to solve some internal problems."

LaBeau didn't divulge what those problems were, but he did say that his team "was sputtering in key situations which is hurting us immensely." That comment came in the wake of a 24-8 loss.

"Although Monroe dominated the second half," LaBeau continued, "the game was closer than the score indicates."

Huron had no trouble moving against Monroe in the first half. In fact, the first time they had possession of the ball, quarterback Dave Satneck marched his team to the three-yard line where the drive fizzled.

Monroe broke a scoreless first quarter with a 14-yard touchdown pass from QB Jim Martin to Lloyd Gildersleeve midway in the second quarter. Martin then hooked up with Paul Haddix for another pass, good for the two-point conversion. That gave Catholic Central an 8-0 lead which could have stood up the rest of the way.

Monroe increased its advantage by another eight points in the third quarter when Haddix broke loose for a 15-yard touchdown sprint. A Martin-to-Gildersleeve pass accounted for the two-point.

It was then New Boston's turn. Quarterback Satneck led the Chiefs on a 65-yard drive that culminated with Bob Bokor's one-yard TD lunge. Satneck and Rocky Frasier pulled off the conversion, via a pass.

Seeking insurance, Catholic Central got it in the last 12 minutes when Martin scored on a seven-yard run, then Haddix flipped a pass to Dave Little for the two-points.

Bokor was the mainstay of the Huron offense. He was called upon 13 times and picked up 78 yards of the Chiefs' 120 yards rushing. Monroe had an overwhelming 17 to 9 edge in first downs and compiled 239 yards on the ground and 52 in the air.

Satneck's 6-of-13 pass completions were good for 57 yards, but two of those aerials wound up in enemy hands. Shawn Slayton picked off a Monroe pass in the fourth quarter.

With a 1-3 over-all record (they're 1-2 in the conference) Huron must get past Carlson if it hopes to secure a winning record this season.

What happened Canton?

This was supposed to be the Year of the Canton Chiefs. But it isn't. Four weeks into the 1979 high school football season and Coach Dave Schuele's gridders are still without a victory.

Moreover, this wasn't supposed to be the Year of Churchill's Chargers. Strangely enough, it is.

Coach Ken Kaestner's team, after losing their opener to what has become the No.1 Class A team in the state, Fordson, has gone on to win three straight. Churchill isn't expected to receive much in the way of opposition Friday night when the Chargers invade Plymouth Canton.

Right Coach Schuele?

"From the scouting reports I have on them (Churchill), Kaestner has a quick and spirited team," Schuele said. "I don't know what happened to them against Fordson, but they aren't the same. They have one of the finest quarterbacks in the area in Hill Keller. They are very quick, and I mean quick, off the ball. When they got their first victory they turned into real believers."

"And, right now that's something we aren't," Schuele added. Churchill goes into Friday night's battle tied for first place with Farmington Harrison. Both teams are 2-0 on the Western 6 Conference season.

Keller displayed some of that dazzle last Friday as the Chargers eked out a 14-7 victory over Walled Lake Western. Keller hit Bob Monaghan on a 22-yard touchdown pass in the last quarter to seal the victory for the defending champs.

All of the scoring was in the second half. The Chargers took the lead 7-0 in the third quarter when Keller capped a sustained with a two-yard QB sneak, then Darrel Copley booted his first of two extra points.

Western tied the score on a 19-yard pass from Rob King to Bruce Meyer.

Meanwhile, Canton continued to have its problems. The mistake-riddled Chiefs fell behind 19-0 against Northville and dropped their fourth successive game, 19-6.

"Our biggest problem is that we haven't been able to control the line of scrimmage," Schuele said. "When you get inside your opponent's 15 yard line three times in the first period and don't score, something has to be wrong."

Canton eluded the shutout in the closing minutes of the game when quarterback Steve Gray climaxed a 36-yard drive with a three-yard TD. That was set up by Mark Laforest's fumble recovery.

The Chiefs had only 67 yards rushing and 58 of those were on Bob Hamblin's efforts. He carried 14 times. Gray connected with five of his seven passes, good for an additional 47 yards. Johnny Tarr caught three of those passes for 49 yards.

Wayne netters 5th in league

With pre-season favorite Fordson dominating the Great Lakes 8 Conference girls' tennis competitions for the second consecutive year, the best Wayne Memorial could do is finish fifth.

Fordson compiled 32 points to win the conference championship held last weekend. Trailing, in order, were Wyandotte (20), Monroe (19), Riverview (17), Wayne (7), while Lincoln Park, Taylor Center and Taylor Truman failed to garner a point.

"No, I wasn't disappointed at the way our team finished," said Wayne Coach Jack Armstrong. "We had met these teams during the season and knew of their relative strengths. We played well as I expected."

Wayne picked up its points from the performances of Debbie Gorscheck, who beat Truman's Tris Dyer in the first round 6-1, 6-0 but was ousted in the second round and entered the consolation bracket where she defeated Lincoln Park's Jane Leuvano, 6-1 and 6-3.

In the No.3 singles, Sherry Sotola turned back LP's Dawn Benecquisto 6-4, 6-5, but lost in both the second and consolation rounds.

Wayne's No.3 doubles team of Bonnie Lamb and Laurie Browe got the final points with a 6-4 and 6-3 victory over Vetter and Steksko.

"The competition has improved over the past few years," Armstrong said, "and I think this league is producing a fine crop of players, as good as most across the state."

Tiger runners are undefeated

Belleville harriers got off to an excellent start in the Suburban 8 Conference last week as the Tigers put down Trenton 22-47 and Livonia Bentley, 24-45, in a double dual meet.

"We're improving," said Belleville Coach Dave Medley whose club is 7-1 over-all on the season and is favored to capture the Western Wayne title on Saturday at Wayne Memorial.

Of the pending confrontation at Wayne, Coach Medley noted that, "Taylor Kennedy and Wayne are good teams and it will take our best performances to beat them."

Trenton's Mark Mayrand carded the best time in the dual meet with a 16:47 and Belleville came up second with Tim McIntyre who was clocked in 16:53. Then, the Tigers ran fifth with Mark Barrera who crossed the finish line in 17:11, followed by teammates Allan Hoelzel Jeff Collins and Scott Boyd who were sixth, seventh and eighth, respectively.

Medley will know just how good his team is in the league on Thursday when the Tigers clash with defending champ and pre-season title favorite, Dearborn Edsel Ford.

"Edsel has another power-packed team," Medley said, "and we'll know just how good we are after that one."

Meanwhile, Belleville also eked out a 28-31 non-conference victory over Taylor Kennedy and stopped Wayne Memorial 22-33 in an earlier dual meet.

Wayne's super senior, Doug Tolson, coasted to a 15:06 first place. His time established a Belleville course record. Kennedy's Troy Oullette was runner-up (16:15), while Kennedy also had the third place finishers in John Doyle (16:16).

Belleville filled the fourth and fifth place positions with McIntyre (16:22) and Todd Misna (16:36), then captured seventh with John Conrad, ninth with Hoelzel and tenth with Barrera.

"It was our best over-all performance of the year time-wise," commented Medley.

Romulus has new Cross Country coach

There's been a changing of guards, of sorts, at Romulus High. Ray Lohner, who coached girls' track last Spring, has taken over the Eagles' cross country team, replacing Al Wilkerson who resigned last year.

Lohner's runners have an over-all

22 record after beating Willow Run, 21-38, at Eastern Michigan University. Spotting the Flyers first place, Romulus finished swept the next five spots with Alonzo Clark (17:18), Randy Given, Bobby Stewart, Troy Williams and Anthony Johnican.

T-Birds crush Tigers

Belleville awaits Salem

The light at the end of the tunnel may be further than Belleville Coach Mike Colletta thinks.

After giving perennial power Trenton a scare, Colletta's Tigers fell apart Friday in Dearborn on a hot and humid afternoon as No. 6 ranked state powerhouse, Edsel Ford, humbled the visitors, 41-0.

If that wasn't bad enough, Belleville now has to contend with Plymouth-Salem, a team that has put together three straight victories after losing a thriller to out-of-league rival, Livonia Franklin, in the season opener.

Coach Tom Moshimer's Rocks rallied past Utica Eisenhower to win a cliffhanger 9-7 to preserve its streak. It was the first meeting between these two non-conference rivals. Salem picked up the game to fill a void in their schedule created by the absence of Allen Park. The Parkers didn't field a team this season because of millage problems.

Belleville will host the defending champs on Friday at 8 p.m. They will be attempting to break out of a four-game losing streak.

It was the smallest member of Coach Jon Davis's T-Birds who caused Belleville most of the problems. John Bridges, who stands 5-foot-6 and checks in at under 140-pounds, picked off a couple of Tiger aerials and ran one back for a 35-yard touchdown. Bridges also passed for a two-point conversion.

Edsel left little doubt that they wanted the victory in an impressive manner. The T-Birds relentlessly pursued their visitors to squeeze out all of the points they could get.

The T-Birds scored on separate drives from the one with Barry Nabozny and Dan Betz each carding touchdowns, while quarterback Chuck Davis hit Rob Waldron on a 10-yard touchdown pass. The two other scores went to Jeff Renas and Matt Mattern.

Salem, meanwhile, needed a touch of "lady luck" to get by the team from Utica. In the waning minutes of the game the Rocks managed to trap the Eisenhower quarterback in the end zone for a safety and on the ensuing kick, Bob Lewandowski, turned in a sterling run back of 70 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Belleville favored to win WW title

Wayne's Tolson is harrier to catch

Belleville's over-all team strength could give Coach Dave Medley the 1979 Wayne Memorial Invitational Cross Country championship.

"I feel that they have the best shot at the title," said Wayne High's Ernie Righetti who is quick to point out that he has the individual runner to catch in that meet.

"If we run well, we could be in the midst of the title race," Righetti added. "You just can't tell."

The championships will be held Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. on Wayne Memorial's three-mile course, located in the "flats", (behind the high school).

Wayne has been a perennial threat at its own invitational and with the likes of Doug Tolson in the Zebra lineup they could possibly successfully defend their championship. Tolson is the state's defending Class A champ and remains undefeated this year.

"I don't think anyone will touch him this Saturday," added Righetti. "In fact, I look for him to tour our course in 14:20."

Some 12 teams have accepted to run Saturday. The field will include the three Taylor schools — Taylor Center, Truman and Kennedy, along with Livonia Franklin, Belleville, Cherry Hill, Garden City East, Garden City-West, and Romulus.

Trophies will be presented to the top two teams in the varsity segment of the race, but only the winning team will be awarded a trophy in the junior varsity race which will take place after varsity competition. The top 10 finishers will receive plaques and there will be 25 ribbons awarded to the first 25 who cross the finish line.

Meanwhile, Righetti must worry about Fordson, the Zebras' next Great Lakes 8 Conference opponent. Fordson will be at Wayne 4 p.m. on Thursday and the outcome of that crucial dual meet could tell the conference coaches who will be the next champ.

Wayne lost a 27-28 squeaker to Taylor Center, the first time ever a Wayne cross country team has been beaten by the Rams. And that defeat puts pressure on the Zebras.

Tolson easily won the meet, but it was his younger brother, Mike, who had problems. Mike slipped over a log on the course and managed to regain his poise to finish ninth.

"We feel if Mike had not fallen we could have won this meet," Righetti said.

Wayne also had the fourth best runner in Andy Stopchinski while Chris Strom was sixth.

The loss was the first in the league for Wayne who'll carry a 2-1 conference record into the dual meet against the visiting Traactors.

Canton beaten

Both teams had eight first downs, but Northville picked up 142 yards from its passing game and 86 on the ground. They tried 12 passes and completed eight. One of those aerials ended in an interception with Canton's Greg Mallaie stepping in and grabbing the ball.

What must be a record, Canton fumbled three consecutive kick-offs in the second half. Northville recovered the second half kick-off and turned around and scored. Then they kicked again and again the Chiefs obliged by mishandling the ball and again

Northville eventually scored. But fate and the officials stepped in after the next kickoff. Although Canton again fumbled and again Northville recovered, the refs called Northville for off-sides and the ball eventually wound up in the Chiefs' hands.

Despite all of the frustrations, Canton did have some exceptionally fine defensive performances. Mallaie stood out as the monster back. He collected 10 initial hits and four assists.

But how can you win if you fumble seven times and lose the ball five of those occasions?

That's a question that you won't find an easy answer to.

Editor:

I can only assume that some mix-up took place this week at the Associated Newspapers Offices before I received my copy of the Wayne Eagle.

The (A) Section definitely read "Wayne Eagle" but to my dismay in the Sports' Section; I found the lead story and most prominent article about our sister city: Westland's John Glenn's Football Game which included four pictures.

Down at the bottom of the front page of the Sports' Section where one would expect to find a story about an interesting game played in a neighboring community was a small article on Wayne High's shut-out victory over Taylor Truman.

My wife and I, who are Booster Club members attended that game and disagree with Tom Mooradian's description of the game he saw. In the game we saw, our home town team played a well executed, hard fought contest and pulled out a well deserved victory. Tom, in my opinion is a very good newspaper man and knowledgeable sport's writer. However, he missed the mark in his coverage of Wayne High's victory.

He and the Wayne Eagle should give Wayne Memorial High School and our City the prominence and credit that our fine football team deserves.

Sincerely,
Fred and Marti Montgomery

A rare happening

Cage coach pulls team off the court

Basketball coaches usually don't yank their teams off the court without good reason.

But with six minutes remaining in their game with Wayne Memorial, Taylor Truman's Carl Haney figured his girls had enough. He pulled his team off the court and called it a day.

Wayne had an insurmountable lead at the time. Coach Steve Schwartz' Zebras had built up a 43-14 advantage. The outcome was never in doubt.

"He told me that he didn't want any of his girls to get hurt," Schwartz said. "So the game was called."

Schwartz had pulled his starters after six minutes in the first period when it was obvious that Truman was not a threat. Ten of the 12 Wayne players scored with Bunny Walker's nine points as tops for the game. Theresa Callagari chipped in with eight. Anne Cullen, who came off the bench, and Peggy Stevens each had six.

The victory was Wayne's second in the Great Lakes 8 Conference and they will take on Fordson, one of the two other league leaders, (Monroe also is undefeated in two starts) on Thursday.

Fordson has always been a thorn in Wayne's sides and the winner of the crucial game will emerge with a great boost in their title stock.

Last Tuesday, Livonia Franklin snapped Wayne's 2-game winning streak, 42-36. Close the first half, Wayne lost a 7-6 first period edge when the Patriots outscored them in the next eight minutes 17-13 to take a 23-20 halftime lead.

Wayne wasted a superb 22-point scoring effort by Callegari whose point-total represented a career high.

Meanwhile, Ron Smith has taken over the coaching helm of the New Boston Huron girls' basketball team and his Chiefs have strung together a five-game winning streak.

Huron's latest victim was Willow Run which was subdued 51-24. The Chief's previous victories were over Milan (42-40), Riverview (53-28), Melvindale (48-31) and Lutheran West (64-34).

Kathy Bartz, a guard, scored 22 points and Sherry Samar sank 10 against Willow Run.

Coach Smith has starts Leslie Haener, a six-footer at center, along with Brenda Krzyske and Chris Pinter at the forward spots. Bartz and Samar are the starting guards.

"I'm really pleased at the way these girls are playing," Smith said. "I feel we will have an exciting season."

Huron has Grosse Ile to contend with on Thursday after clashing with Monroe Jefferson Tuesday night. They'll have to keep their eyes on defending champ, Monroe St. Mary's, who has won the Huron Conference championship twice in the last three years.

Glenn visits GC East scored his third TD, this one from one yard out. End Kurt Marsh added his only extra point of the night.

With Glenn unable to move the ball at all on the ground, QB Ken Liedel began throwing short passes and flare passes to his backs.

But even this back-fired as Marsh, a 6-foot-four, 205-pound TV antenna of an end, reached up his big paws and snagged one of Liedel's passes and raced untouched 39 yards for the final R.U. Score and a 25-7 count.

Glenn's only offensive spark came in the last quarter when it started on the opponent's 40-yard-line after an out-of-bounds punt. Tailback Scott Thornton took a perfect pitch from QB Liedel and circled right end for 13 yards and a first down. Liedel fired a pass to junior end Dave Cort on the next play for another first down on RU's 32-yard-line. Glenn made its third consecutive first down in as many plays when Slot-back Anthony Cabrera flashed through the line on a counter play off right tackle for 22 yards and yet another first down on Reford Union's 10-yard-line. Glenn's deepest penetration of the game.

However, Thornton was hit hard and fumbled on the next play and Glenn's nemesis — old number 87, Kurt Marsh — recovered for Union.

Reford Union was all they were cracked up to be, rolling up 342 yards rushing, and Glenn fans agreed they'd never seen a Rocket defense chewed up like that in a long-long time. Tailback Bob Utych raced 194 yards in 29 carries, while Friedman picked up 106 yards and three TD's in just 15 rushes. Reford Union had 18 first downs and hit on 2 of 4 passes with one intercepted by O'Neil for the touchdown by Glenn.

O'Neil's touchdown was the first time the Panthers gave up a point in four games and their defensive unit still has not allowed a score.

Glenn managed only 58 yards rushing in 23 carries and Liedel hit four of 15 passes with two interceptions as Glenn had nine first downs.

Coach Gordon of Glenn agreed Reford Union has a powerful team but was disappointed in the effort put forth by his team. "I was very disappointed in our play," he said. "When you play someone that's state-ranked, you're going to have to play sound football and we didn't do that."

Gordon singled out the outstanding play of defensive backs Greg Walters and Anthony Cabrera and defensive end Cory Gielinski as bright spots in Glenn's otherwise poor showing.

Now the Rockets, whose record dropped to 2-2 overall and 1-1 in the Northwest Suburban League, faces another rugged test at Garden City East Friday night. The Gary Humphrey-coached Panthers are always tough and are riding a 3-1 overall record and 1-1 NSL conference mark. "East is really physical. We saw them beat Franklin, 6-0, Saturday and we'll have to play our best to stay with them. But we can do it," said Gordon, who described himself as the "eternal optimist."

Meanwhile, Reford Union coach Heitman praised his offensive line coach, Fred Hodges for Friday's overwhelming victory. "Fred Hodges is the best offensive line coach in the state as far as I am concerned," said Heitman, now in his fourth year at R.U.

"Our offensive line opened big holes for our backs to run through and Fred is the one who is responsible for that," Heitman said he was happy with his team's 4-0 record (2-0 in the league), but pointed out that this week's league test at home against powerful North Farmington will show how good his senior-laden squad is.

Spartan TD. Gregory had four solo tackles, two assists and also intercepted twice; Barry Long, a strong safety, chalked up five unassisted tackles.

The Spartans also received an outstanding performance from Gary Bilek, defensive noseman, who contributed five solo tackles.

Pawloski's troops will travel to Melvindale Friday night in hopes of ending a long-time jinx. They have never defeated the Cardinals on the road. This year the task again viewed another "tough assignment."

"Melvindale is coming off a 7-0 victory over Garden City West," Pawloski said. "They're still alive in the conference, and they have a tough bunch of kids. For us ... we are going back to the drawing boards."

Kick-off is slated for 7:30 p.m.

No. 1 ranked Fordson invades Wayne Friday of the season. Covault, a junior, also chipped in two excellent runs, totaling 16 yards.

With the defense bearing down on the Rams thanks to stalwarts Gary Duplessis, who had eight tackles, Bruce Rize, a linebacker who was in on 10 tackles; Emery Biggerstaff, credited with eight unassisted tackles, and Bill Spada, who had six solos, Wayne seemingly had little trouble with their host's offense.

In fact, Taylor had a mere four first downs for the game. Only one of those however was in the second half. The Rams rushed for 81 yards on 23 plays and hit four of nine passes for 34. But Wayne intercepted three of those passes. Tavana and Covault each had one.

Wayne made sure that there would be no last minute heroics and scored an insurance touchdown in the last quarter. After Wayne forced a Taylor punt, Mazurek returned the ball seven-yards, to the Ram 46. Eight plays into their final series, Wayne scored on a counter-play with Larry Wilson going in from the 20. It should be noted that it was the first time Wilson had carried the ball this season.

Wayne Davis churned out most of the yardage for this drive.

Shumpert accounted for 87 of the 271 total Wayne rushing yardage. He carried 16 times and his two TDs ties him with Rogers. Each has four. Davis accounted for 68 yards on 15 carries and a touchdown.

Wayne piled up 17 first downs, a season high, and had the ball for 57 plays which resulted in 301 yards total. Covault found receivers for two of his five passes for 33 yards.

The only blemish in the statistics was Wayne's six penalties which cost them 55 yards. Most of those infractions were called for illegal motion.

"It is these kinds of mistakes we can't afford to make against Fordson," warned Carter.

On top of the league standings going into the week are Fordson and

Wayne, each with 3-0 records. One notch down are Monroe and Lincoln Park with (2-1) while Riverview and Wyandotte are 1-2. The two Taylor schools - Truman and Center are winless in three starts.

Ailing Franklin faces Thurston marched to the East 4-yard line and there they hit a impregnable Panther defensive wall.

Vigna also observed his team give away the ball five times by fumbles. He had this to say about his team's untypical generosity.

"I really don't think we deserved to win. When you fumble five times and can't score from the four, what else is there to say?" he rhetorically asked.

That might sound a bit Draconian, but the facts of life are that Franklin is now mired in the cellar of the conference, something that Patriots had avoided like the black plague in bygone years.

With the exit of McCarthy, backup quarterback Scotty Lovich ended his monastic life on the sidelines. He was given the key to the Franklin offense and had his problems finding the right hole. But Vigna accepted the blame.

"Scotty hadn't seen any action at all prior to the East game," Vigna said, "so I'm going to have to accept the blame for that. He tried but the offense just didn't unwind."

Scotty, who is the nephew of George Lovich, former head coach and presently the athletic director at the high school, hit on four of 13 passes for 88 yards. One of those receptions was to Jim Pryzisecki, a 26-yarlder, that kept the seven-play drive to the East 4-yard line alive.

Franklin's front four — Jack Williams, Mark Bowen, Jeff Damaske and Tom Martin — played their part in defusing the East ground game. Ron Lohman, Dave Rettig and Doug White also earned their spot in the limelight.

If Franklin is to put the brakes on to its skid it will have to be done at Redford Thurston on Saturday. Thurston is winless in four starts this season.

But the way the chips are falling on the Patriots, nothing is for certain these days.

Rockets run past Patriots

All of a sudden the Northwest Suburban Conference cross country title picture is blurred.

And the reason is once-defeated John Glenn handed Livonia Franklin its first conference loss. It was by the narrowest possible margin, 28-29.

Franklin Coach Bob Holmes's Patriots failed to make good use of the first two plagues. Paul Coburn and Jeff Bristow ran 1-2 with 16:01 and 16:23 performances, but the Westlanders then nailed down the next five of six places.

Glenn's Terry Andrews was third (16:27), followed by teammates Scott Campbell, (fourth), Tim Unold (sixth), Pete Stephens (seventh), Karl Steffens (eighth) and Aaron Staples (ninth).

league-leaders the momentum they had been looking for all afternoon. It was Baker's 15-yard pass into the flats to Jeff Fogarty that sealed the Eagles' victory. Schafer remains in a two-way tie for first place with Dearborn Heights Crestwood.

"A victory would have given us a 2-1 record. We would have gone right back into contention," Pawloski pointed out. "It's going to be rough now."

Johnson racked up 79 of the Spartans' 150 total yards rushing. He carried 17 times. Gregory played exceptional on offense and defense. He had a 50-yard screen pass called back because of a clip and that fraction cost the Spartans a touchdown.

Koscielecki accounted for six solo

Punt, Pass & Kick winners announced

There were no losers but a lot of winners who took time out to compete in the annual Punt, Pass & Kick competitions held at Belleville High School last week.

The competitions are sponsored nationally by the Ford Motor Company and locally by Atchinson Ford Sales in Belleville.

And in the 8-year old age group the winner was Joseph Yuhas who, like other winners, will advance to regional competition. Joseph's nine-year-old brother, Allan, placed first in his age bracket, while Jeff Johnson and Jason Schiefelbein were second and third respectively.

In the 10-year-old Division, Jeff Tompkins captured top honors; Greg Frietas was second and Pat Murray was third.

Dennis Montie was the top performer in the 11-year-old division. He beat out runner-up David Brinkerhoff and third-place finisher Jeff Stimach.

Derrick Dowling led all 12-year-olds as he won the top honor, followed by Matt Oddy and Jesse Schiefelbein and their counterparts in the 13-year-old bracket were Boyd Shearer, who was crowned the district champ, followed by Paul Prystup and Andy Winnie who were second and third.

The zone competitions will be held 10 a.m., Oct. 6 at Shadford Field in Ypsilanti. The winners will advance to regional and later the survivors will have a shot at national recognition.

Spicy sausage and zucchini

It's country auction and church bazaar time and that could mean it's time to haul out the giant stockpots and largescale recipes in preparation for this year's church supper.

To give everyone on the dinner committee a chance on the Tiffany lamp and log cabin quilt it's best to plan a dish that can be made in advance and reheated just before serving. That's why spaghetti with Italian Sausage and Zucchini is sure to satisfy both the cooks and congregants.

The sauce is a combination of meaty sausage and fresh zucchini (a good way to take care of this year's bumper crop) simmered in Open Pit barbecue sauce accented with plum tomatoes and oregano for authentic Italian flavor. The recipe for 12 servings can be doubled or halved (for Saturday night supper) depending on how many antique buffs are expected. Complete the menu with a serve-yourself salad bar and hot garlic bread in time to get in the winning bid on... a moose head or a brass bed.

ITALIAN SAUSAGE AND ZUCCHINI

3 pounds Italian sweet sausages, cut in chunks
Water
1 cup chopped onions
1 can (35 oz.) Italian-style plum tomatoes
1 bottle (18 oz.) all-purpose barbecue sauce
1 tbsp. oregano

1 1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 pounds zucchini, thickly sliced (about 6 cups)
2 medium green peppers, thinly sliced

Parboil sausages in water to cover in large saucepan for 20 minutes; drain well. Then saute sausages in large skillet until well browned. Remove from pan. Saute onions in sausage drippings in the skillet until tender, adding a small amount of oil, if necessary. Add tomatoes, barbecue sauce, oregano and salt. Cover and simmer 40 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add zucchini and peppers and cook 10 minutes longer. Serve over cooked spaghetti or macaroni and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired. Makes 3 quarts or 12 servings.

NOTE: may be prepared in advance; store covered in refrigerator, or freeze. Reheat just before serving.

HOT GARLIC BREAD

1 envelope cheese garlic or garlic salad dressing mix
3/4 cup softened butter or margarine
2 loaves (about 10 oz. each) French or Italian bread
Stir salad dressing mix into softened butter. Slice bread partially through at 1-inch intervals. Spread butter mixture between each section. Wrap in aluminum foil. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

Laurie Hill feted at dinner shower

Laurie Hill, who has been caught up in a whirlwind of pre-nuptial parties, was the honored guest Sept. 17 at a dinner party-shower given by Ann Szlinis at her home on Harbor Lane, Belleville.

Some 26 guests from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Canton, Tecumseh and Belleville answered invitations to the 6:30 p.m. party feting the October bride-elect of Curt Cilia.

Assisted by Jean Stone and Bea Raymond, the hostess served hot casserole buffet dinner using a yellow and white color scheme. Guests were seated at tables centered with candles in white ceramic holders encircled by fresh marigolds.

Prize winners for the two brief games which followed were Sally Griffith, Joyce Hilton, Jill Gerth and Dena Cicotte.

When Laurie opened the many gifts which will fill closets, cupboards and drawers in her new home, she had the help of three of her future bridesmaids: Marianne Szlinis, Mary Greca and Jackie Lamoreaux.

Laurie and Curt have reserved St. Anthony's Catholic Church for their approaching wedding.

Alterations keep favorite pants in fashion this fall

This fall fashion forecasts indicate that the pant look remains slim, through the hips and leg and tapered to a narrow width at the ankle.

If your favorite pair of slacks are wide-legged bell-bottoms, you can easily alter them to reduce fullness and be right in style, according to Joanne Thurber, clothing and textiles specialist for the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service. She noted that the most important factor to consider before altering your slacks is your individual fashion taste and comfort.

"Few people can wear the extremely narrow pants (13 inches at the ankle) and feel comfortable in them," Thurber said. "The important thing to remember is that fashion is based on individuality. Consumers have the freedom to buy and wear clothes that they feel attractive in, and that are adaptable to their own particular lifestyles."

To alter slacks, first measure your thigh, knee and calf areas, allowing one to three inches ease at each of these points. Write the measurement down.

Turn the slacks inside out and mark the hip point on the outer seam where you want the slacks to begin to taper. On the inner leg seam pick the point which feels most comfortable to you to begin tapering.

From these points use a yardstick or tape measure to mark a straight line down to the point of the new hemline. With the narrower look, pant hems fall just about to the top of the ankle. Open up the bottom hem and let out side seams to the hemline.

It is important to note that inner and outer seams must be taken in equally at the hemline, not at the bottom edge of the slack to maintain the balance and crease of the pant. Thurber suggests an 18- to 20-inch ankle width for slacks most to insure a comfortable fit.

Pin the pants along the markings to the hemline only, then baste and try on for fit. Open former leg seams only after fit has been adjusted and new seams have been sewn securely.

After completing leg seams, to insure a smooth unpuckered hem, fold up each hem allowance separately and mark the bottom edge at the point of the new seam width. Mark the new seamline between the edge and the hemline, and baste. Stitch seams together, trim and press open. Turn up hem and blind stitch.

Christening followed by family party

Keri Robin Saksewski, the daughter of Stanley and Sherrie Saksewski of Fret Road, Belleville, received the sacrament of baptism Sept. 8 at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Ypsilanti.

The Rev. Sidney S. Rood presided at the 12 noon ceremony at which Larry Conrad of Dearborn and Donna Newville of Roanoke, Va. were godparents.

At the party which followed at the Saksewski home, guests included the infant's grandparents, Earl and Georgia Slavick of Belleville; her great-grandmother, Florence Sutherland of Detroit, and uncles, aunts and cousins, William and Carole Bashforth with Kim and Beth; Jim and Colleen Walters; Dave and Gail Van Hatten, Allison and Lori Slavick, and Steven and Mary McCann. Also attending were Carolyn Conrad and son, John, of Dearborn, and Roger Newville of Roanoke, Va.

MRS. TIMOTHY M. BILBREY

Candlelight rite unites Tim Bilbrey, Diane Loyer

Candlelight set the mood Aug. 17 for the evening ceremony which joined Diane Lynn Loyer and Timothy Mitchell Bilbrey in holy matrimony.

Pastor Herbert Gilbert presided at the 7 p.m. rite at Beacon Baptist Church in Taylor with some 250 relatives and friends attending. Double ring vows were exchanged before an altar appointed with yellow and white daisies and snow on the mountain.

Parents of the young couple are Lester and Sophia Loyer of 4924 Bemis Rd., Belleville, and James and Sue Bilbrey of 30198 W. Huron River Dr., Flat Rock.

Music for the occasion was provided by organist Ida Belle Frantz; pianist Pamela Frantz and soloist Patricia Bilbrey, the bridegroom's sister, who sang "For Baby, for Bobbie" as the bride came down the aisle. During the wedding the bridegroom sang "Each for the Other" to his bride and during the lighting of the candles Miss Bilbrey sang "Treasures." Four other numbers, "Love was When," "The Wedding Song," "The Way That He Loves" and "Happy am I" were sung by Grace, Vickie, Pat and Karen Lindsey.

Escorted down the aisle by her uncle, Howard Barber, the bride appeared in a white eyelet creation fashioned with a Mandarin neckline, oval ruffled bodice, elbow sleeves and a 3-tiered skirt which drifted into a chapel train as she walked.

She wore her mother's bridal veil which fell to fingertip length from a sweetheart headpiece and completed her ensemble with a colonial bouquet of white daisies, mint green roses and baby's breath.

Kimberly Whaley came from Spartanburg, S.C. to serve as honor attendant at her friend's wedding. Her gown of mint green dotted swiss was styled with a 3-tiered skirt and white eyelet trim. She tucked white daisies in her hair and carried green and white long-stemmed daisies interspersed with baby's breath.

Wearing identical frocks with the exception of green eyelet trim were the four bridesmaids: Debe Phillips of Ypsilanti; Dawn Barber of Clarkston, a cousin of the bride; Mayellen Frantz of Flat Rock, and Darlene Loyer of Belleville, the bride's sister who was junior attendant.

As his brother's best man, Danny Bilbrey of Flat Rock headed a corps of ushers which included Rocky Bilbrey of Richlands, Va., another brother; Kenneth Schroeder of New Boston, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Jeffrey Whitaker of Kalamazoo.

At the reception which followed in the church Fellowship Hall, the bride's mother greeted guests in a yellow print silk gown to which she pinned her corsage of yellow blooms. White and lavender flowers adorned the lavender floor-length gown which the bridegroom's mother chose to wear. Among those attending were relatives and friends from Yugoslavia and the state of Virginia.

After a honeymoon along the Lake Huron shoreline to Mackinac Island and a return along Lake Michigan, the newlyweds took up residence at the bride's apartment at 22416 West Rd., No. 203, Woodhaven.

The new Mrs. Bilbrey graduated from Belleville High School in 1973 and from Pontiac General Hospital in 1975 as a lab technician. She currently is working at Riverside Osteopathic Hospital in Trenton.

Her husband, a 1974 alumnus of Huron High School, graduated in 1979 from Western Michigan University with a degree in aircraft technology and management. He now is working at Black Aero Service, Inc. at Grosse Ile Airport.

The rehearsal party was hosted by the James Bilbrey's at their home in Flat Rock.

Handicapped series program continuing at Washtenaw CC

As part of a continuing series of special programs for the handicapped, Washtenaw Community College and the Ann Arbor Center for Independent Living will offer a 3-hour seminar on public policy as it relates to the handicapped on Oct. 6 from 1 to 4 p.m. It is open to the public at no charge.

The class will be concerned primarily with government policy and access to mandated resources. Offered in Room 1904 of the College's Student Center Building at 4800 East Huron River Drive, the class is designed as a forum not only for those with a particular handicap but also for those with an interest in broadening their knowledge about human differences by discussing feelings, attitudes, experiences and perceptions of the handicapped.

The program is partially funded by the Ann Arbor Chapter of Civitan which awarded the College a grant for the purpose of defraying the expenses of transportation for the handicapped to the seminar. Any prospective participants in need of transportation should call (313) 971-0277.

Other questions regarding the seminar should be directed to WCC staff at (313) 482-2230.

The series dealing with the nature of disability and the development of resources essential to independent living includes sessions on the following days besides the Oct. 6 meeting:

Nov. 3 — a discussion of the psychosocial aspects of disability, particularly concerning mainstreaming public attitudes;

Dec. 1 — a discussion of the psychosocial aspects of disability, particularly concerning self-concept, marriage and family.

What documents will my family need at the time of my death?

One of the most frustrating responsibilities of a spouse or family, at time of death, can be that of locating important papers and documents. A current and up-to-date listing of these papers can, indeed, be a benefit to survivors.

This is a difficult activity for anyone to do because no one really wants to anticipate death or even prepare for it. On the other hand, you would be doing a real service to your family if you follow through on this. Make a list of your documents, indicating where each is.

The type of such papers and documents, along with location, might include: 1) your will, 2) Social Security papers, veteran's records, 3) cemetery deed, 4) insurance policies, 5) such certificates as birth, marriage organization and/or union membership, educational, military, 6) bank accounts and safety deposit boxes, 7) financial papers such as mortgages, contracts, promissory notes, negotiable papers, stocks, bonds, trust funds, 8) all recent tax returns or W-2 forms.

Sometimes this information turns up information about assets either forgotten about or not known of by the survivors.

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE BUTLER

Golden wedding marked at party

A former Belleville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Butler of William Street, Taylor, were honored Sept. 9 on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. Their special day began with a renewal of their marriage vows at St. Pashal's Church in Taylor followed by a party at the home of their son, William Butler of Bemis Road, Belleville.

Mrs. Butler was Henrietta Gohl on her wedding day Sept. 9, 1929 and over the following years became the mother of three sons, Mike of Ypsilanti; William of Belleville and Richard of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Sixteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren are also part of their family.

At the afternoon reception, guests from Florida, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee and the Upper Peninsula congratulated the "bride and groom." For their 50th anniversary, the couple was honored with flowers — a gold-trimmed corsage for her and a matching boutonniere for him. On exchanging gifts, Mrs. Butler opened a pearl necklace and earrings and her husband had the fun of receiving a 3-speed bicycle which he promptly demonstrated to his guests and family.

Before his retirement in 1977, Mr. Butler had worked at Steel Fab on Michigan Avenue for some 30 years. Mrs. Butler, a native of Canada, spends her leisure time reading and doing crossword puzzles while her husband, who is from Wayne originally, likes to garden and keep house. The Butlers moved to Taylor from Belleville some 15 years ago.

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

It well might be the spring-of-the-year when some folks' minds wander, their fancies take on new dimensions and they itch to be away from the toiling scene. But for this gal, it's the fall-of-the-year — RIGHT NOW — that she gets really antsy to go bye-bye.

Contrary to many others feelings that autumn is sad — a portent to the coming winter — it's my favorite time of year and October, especially! Since we got hooked on the game of golf and now live within "driving" distance (a drive and a 9-iron, BG says) of the course, we no longer take summer vacations; there's too much ado right here. BUT — come the first hint of autumnal orange, gold or red, the first scent of apples and cider and the initial crisp, chill day and I'm off in my reveries!

Yesterday BG found the latest Gold Digest blatantly starring at him on the counter — its open pages advertising various exciting, colorful (and not TOO expensive) spots in the South and along the Eastern coastline. And, on finding a postal card addressed to a place in Georgia ready to be mailed after lunch, he knew what the glint in my eye REALLY meant...

Last year at this time we had all the arrangements down pat — reservations in for a golf package, an invite from friends to help christen their new home, all the info from Williamsburg and traveler's checks ready to go. THAT's the way you do it, folks — AHEAD of time; that deposit assuring you you're really going to get away!

I'd thought we'd miss out on the fall color parade during our absence (my only regret at heading south) but — we were delighted to find tinges of color along the fairways and in the mountains as we traveled down and masses of the fall spectrum as we motored northward again.

Don't hesitate if you're considering a fall trip south of Michigan's border; the foliage turns there, too.

We've two times (between four wedding invitations) that we COULD make the move. I guess I'm going to have to hint a little LOUDER!

Everytime I get out the box of plastic wrap, the aluminum foil, the handy plastic bags of varied sizes or use a paper towel, I wonder, "How did our mothers manage without them?" Like the conveniences of a clothes dryer, self-defrosting 'fridge and dishwasher, I can't imagine being without them.

Two of the handiest utensils my mother DID have were the rubber spatula and the wire whisk — both of which I was introduced to at an early age.

Those were among the "musts" when years back, we made the annual trek to the "cottage"; I simply could not "operate" without them. And — if you're missing either of those two "gems" in your kitchen, get out and buy them, pronto! They are the handiest helpers a homemaker can invest in!

There's just NOTHING like a compliment to make one's day a bit brighter and one's spine a bit straighter — a verbal pat-on-the-back just makes 'it' all worth while. And I want to thank Leonard, Mrs. K., Irene, my birthday buddy, Betty M., and A.M.S. for missing "potpourri" the last couple times.

One week I had eight weddings and other local news which I feel have priority over my column (there's just so much space allotted each week) and last time I was just plain lazy and took a day off to spend with No. 3 daughter. But I DO thank you for your kind comments which really got me going once again.

DON'T UPSET THE APPLE CART — an expression we often use but do you have any idea how it originated? Neighbor did I till I looked it up. When relay races were held in rural olde England, a popular rallying cry was: "Down with his apple cart!" That translated into tossing your opponent off balance, for an "apple cart" was neither fruit nor vehicle but slang for the human body. (Some say that's because the first body — Adam's — emigrated from Eden, carting the apple inside his greedy stomach.) Nowadays, the combat is usually less strenuous, for upsetting an "apple cart" means overturning someone's plans (instead of leaving them in "apple pie order!")

Ever stop to think about the expressions we adults use (and readily understand) that a child might NOT interpret the same way? One day (a long time ago) when Carol was a little girl, she was invited to spend the day with her aunt and cousin; the youngsters having the Monday off after their first communion.

When Carol inquired of her aunt what they'd be doing that day, Aunt Flo replied, "Oh, we're just going to bum around."

Rather confusedly, Carol asked just what that meant and auntie decided to pull her leg a bit. "Well, first we take off all our nice clothes, dress up in rags and old shoes and hats and then we go to town and just sort of hang around."

A rather fastidious 8-year-old, Carol was horrified to think auntie was going to do something so crazy and make HER take part in the venture. Needless to day, Aunt Flo could hardly keep a straight face when she saw the utter shock on her niece's face. Their "bumming around" that day turned out to be one of the highlights of Carol's summer and the expression one she's never forgotten (or forgiven) her aunt for.

On broaching the subject of tailgate picnics a few issues back, I never stopped to consider just what might be included on the menu in another section of the country — the South, for instance — until I picked up the latest copy of "Southern Living."

And just by the listing the dishes, you'll know that this bunch of pregamesters is from this side of someplace "south of the border" — would you guess Southern Methodist University in Dallas?

For their gridiron feasts, this alumni group came up with Tailgate Tacos al Carbon, Pico de Gallo, Chicken Chalupas, Guacamole, Refried Beans, Texas-size Pralines and Sangria. Doesn't sound a bit the fare you'd find at UM, MSU or any of the northern schools, does it?

It was just rather interesting to see that article featured so soon after writing "how the Michigan crowd spells tailgating."

THE BOTTOM LINE: The trouble with being a leader today is that you can't be sure whether people are following you or chasing you.

Leslie Alice is her name

Leslie Alice is the name chosen by Mike and Audrey Alkire for their new daughter born Sept. 16 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti. The Alkires, who reside at 42102 Zachery, Belleville, also have a daughter, Carly Jean, who's 6-years-old.

The newcomer arrived at 3:08 p.m., weighed 6 lbs. -10 ozs. and measured 19½ inches.

She is the granddaughter of William and Carmen Zestuart of Romulus and Don and Alice Alkire of Thousand Oaks, Calif. and the great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Minick and Mrs. Don Alkire Sr. of Ohio and Alexandra Fedorow of Detroit.

Heating units are recalled

Intermatic Inc., a manufacturer and supplier of electrical products in Spring Grove, Ill., is voluntarily recalling the heating units from approximately 53,000 automatic temperature setback controls, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The units are being called back because of an integral carbon resistor, which may overheat and start fires.

Approximately 3,000 of the units are believed still to be in consumers' possession despite the firm's attempt to recall the product since October 1978.

The setback controls were sold as a 2-piece kit, under Intermatic's private label, "Temperature Tender". The kit included the heating unit and an electric timer, which enabled residential heating and cooling systems to operate automatically at present temperatures in order to conserve energy.

They were sold at retail prices of approximately $20 to $25 nationwide.

Commission staffers have been informed of 14 unit failures causing 11 major fires in similar thermostat control devices.

Subject to recall are models FS100 and FSI "Temperature Tender" units. The units are off-white in color and measure approximately 1½ by 3 inches. They were manufactured between September 1976 and August 1977 and between November 1977 and May 1978.

The faulty units bear a manufacturer's date code within the following range: 396 through 526, 017 through 327, 427 through 527 and 018 through 218. The date code of 396, for example, designates manufacture during the 39th week of 1976. The date code and model number are on the back of the unit.

In addition, only those units containing a brown-colored carbon resistor (visible through the key-hole slot in the back) are being recalled.

Consumers who own one of these heating units should return it to their retailer for a full refund. Anyone who needs assistance in determining whether their unit is being recalled should write to Department PAS, Intermatic Inc., Intermatic Plaza, Spring Grove, Ill. 60081.

To check date codes and model numbers, consumers should contact CPSC's toll-free hotline at 800-638-8326.

Cycling event aids U.S. Olympic team

Anyone who wants to help support the U.S. Olympic cycling team, while enjoying a pleasant bicycle ride through the autumn colors can do so by participating in the Lowenbrau Bicycling Achievement Ride for the U.S. Cycling Team, slated for Sunday.

Sponsored by the Miller Brewing Co. and organized by the Ann Arbor, funds raised through the ride will go to the U.S. Olympic cycling team as it prepares for the Olympic trials and the 1980 Summer Games in Moscow.

Bicyclists will pedal a 12-mile route at their own pace. There will be free cider halfway at the Huron Farms for those riders who arrive by noon.

For more experienced bicyclists the AABTS has planned 45- and 100-mile routes, that leave at 9 p.m.

All three routes will have service vehicles out to repair breakdowns.

Each entrant will be asked to contribute $5 for which they will receive a 5-colored embroidered patch, or an Olympic participation T-shirt, as well as a numbered bib to wear during the event and a certificate of appreciation from the U.S. Cycling Federation.

A special prize — a gift certificate for the value of a keg of Lowenbrau beer or a Mallis' party pizza for 15 — will be awarded to the cycling team with the most registered participants.

Teams must pre-register by 6 p.m. Saturday at the Kolins Cycling Center, 325 E. Hoover.

Call 663-1604 for forms and further information.

Teams can be local businesses, fraternities, sororities, and clubs.

The event is scheduled to start from 8 to 11 a.m. at Forsythe School, Newport Road at Sunset in Ann Arbor. Individuals can register at the school the day of the event.

Re-entry into work is workshop topic

A 1-day workshop designed to help women who are contemplating re-entering the work force will be held, Oct. 13 at Washtenaw Community College from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Gwen Arnold, instructor for the class, explains that not only will the workshop be concerned with how to get back into the work force but also how to get promoted and "how to create your own 'old boy' network. We will be concerned with women seeking employment and with working women striving for career mobility."

The class will be offered at the College's Ypsilanti Center at 210 West Cross, the Old Ypsilanti High School.

Advanced registration is requested by phoning WCC staff at 482-2230. As with all programs offered by the College, in-district senior citizens are invited to participate at no charge as part of the Emeritus Program. All other enrollees will be charged a $15 fee. Participants are asked to bring a lunch.

"Now is the time for all good neighbors to come to the aid of their community."

Get involved.

Lend a hand to the disabled Mom across the street. Help a blind senior citizen learn to utilize the local mass transit system. Find the hard-to-place youngster a new home in the old neighborhood. Get help for the child abuser down the block. And counseling for that alcoholic co-worker.

How?

By giving and giving generously to the 1979 United Foundation Torch Drive, that's how.

Every year you've done your part by contributing to Torch Drive-supported agencies like the Homemaker Service of Metropolitan Detroit, Greater Detroit Society for the Blind, Homes for Black Children, Family and Neighborhood Services of Wayne County, Alcoholism Treatment Center, St. Joseph Hospital in Mt. Clemens. Plus 132 other community and health agencies that provide people you know with the assistance they need. And this year, they need your support as much as ever.

So when your neighborhood Torch Drive volunteer calls, show how much you care.

After all, they're your neighbors. And it's your community. So if you don't give, who will?

People who need... need people who care.

MRS. FREDERICK J. FLAVELL

Flint church setting for Flavell-Grenay ceremony

St. Michael Catholic Church in Flint was reserved Sept. 29 for the wedding of Barbara S. Grenay of Flint and Frederick J. Flavell of 46040 Traskos, Belleville.

Arrangements of blue and white gladiolas and mums graced the altar as the young couple exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands before The Rev. Martin Miller.

The 2:30 p.m. ceremony joined in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Grenay of 1617 Seminole, Flint, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Flavell of 43 S. Biggs St., Belleville.

Music for the occasion was played by Gertrude Schnelker, organist, who accompanied Barbara Stuart, the soloist.

Carrying a colonial arrangement of white roses, mums, blue statice and baby's breath, the bride was escorted to the sanctuary by her father. For her wedding day, she selected a toe-touching gown of ivory chiffonette designed in the Victorian mode with a high lace collar above an illusion neckline traced in pinafore fashion with ruffled Brussels lace. The Alencon lace forming the little fitted bodice matched that on the deep cuffs on the clear bishop sleeves. Lace was also used above the hemline on the full circular skirt which drifted into a chapel train.

The lace motif was repeated on the crescent cap which secured her silk illusion veil which was cut in fingertip length.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was her best friend, Mrs. Patricia Demasek of St. Clair Shores, as honor attendant. Her pale blue qiana frock, fashioned with a blouson bodice tied at the waist, was accented by a nosegay of blooms in matching shades of blue.

Wearing fox blue gowns identical to the matron of honor's was the quartet of bridesmaids: Mrs. Angie Grenay of Flint, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Patricia Tator of Belleville, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Mary Heidenberger of Troy and Karen Greshock of Flint.

The bridegroom asked his brother-in-law, Robert Tator of Belleville, to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Richard Flavell of Ypsilanti and Rodney Grenay of Flint, brothers of the bride; Gregory Ivan of Belleville and Michael London of Grand Rapids.

Some 200 guests were greeted by the bride's mother, Mrs. Grenay, at the reception which followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Flint. For her daughter's wedding she donned a dusty rose formal qiana gown to which she pinned her shoulder corsage. A wrist corsage accented the full-length rust gown and companion chiffon cape which Mrs. Flavell, the bridegroom's mother, chose for the occasion.

Following an 8-day honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds will be at home at 46040 Traskos, Belleville.

The bride, who holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan, is employed at Hydra-matic of Ypsilanti. Her husband earned his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering at General Motors Institute where he was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He, too, works at Hydra-matic in Ypsilanti.

The senior Flavells entertained at the rehearsal dinner at Walli's Supper Club in Flint.

Cancer Society seeks Straight Talk workers

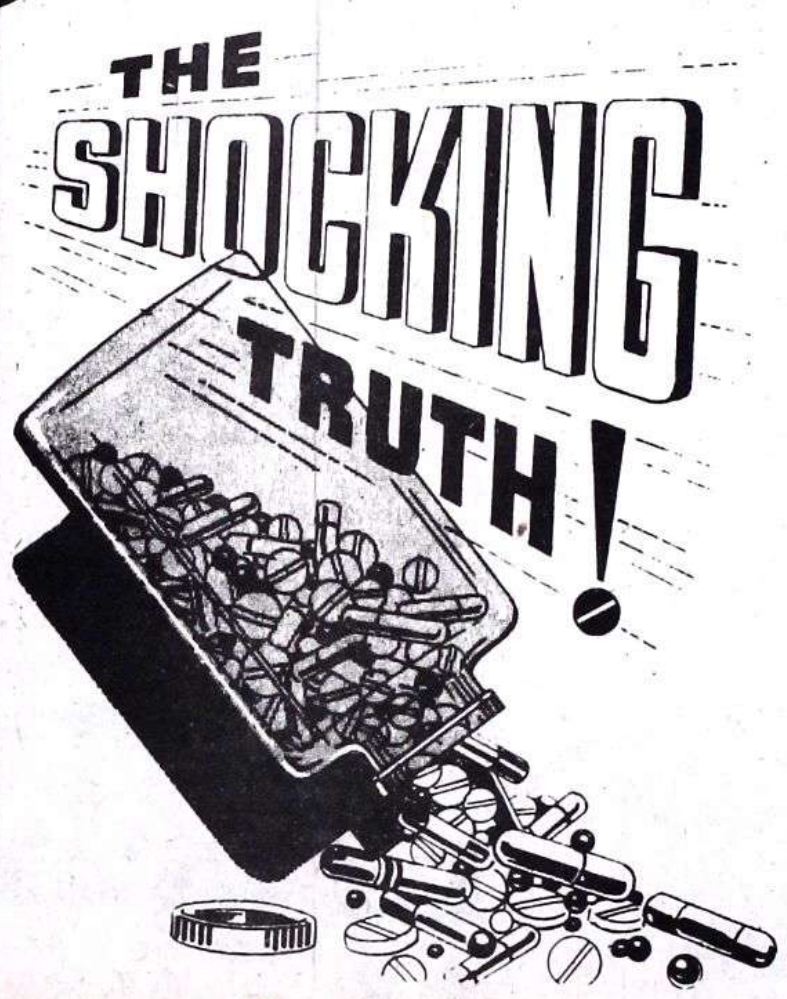

This year in metropolitan Detroit, more than 3,500 women will develop cancers of the breast and uterus. Most of these women can be cured, if their cancers are found and treated early.

The American Cancer Society and Cancer Action Now are sponsoring an education program, called Straight Talk, designed to dispel the fears many women have about breast and uterine cancer. This unique program will be brought this autumn to female employees of Wayne County businesses and to women's clubs and organizations.

To support this important effort, local women are needed as volunteers. Medical background is not necessary. All training is provided.

If you have some time to give, particularly during the day, and would enjoy talking to other women who care about their health, call Martha Bradley at the American Cancer Society at 557-5353.

GOOD HEALTH Doesn't Come in Bottles

IF YOU ARE SICK AND TIRED OF LIVING ON PILLS AND MEDICINE . . . IT IS TIME FOR YOU TO SWITCH TO CHIROPRACTIC AT THE

RIBLEY CHIROPRACTIC LIFE CENTER
28941 West Huron River Drive, Flat Rock

If you are taking pink pills, blue pills, red pills, white pills, green pills, hi-powered pills, pain pills, tranquilizers, aspirin, sedatives, harsh laxatives, B-12 shots, nerve medicine, home remedies, rubbing liniments, etc. . . IT MAY BE TIME FOR YOU TO SWITCH

If you still have headaches, stomach aches, shoulder or leg aches; if you are still told, "You'll have to learn to live with it"; if your heart skips a beat; if your arthritis is forcing you to take a couple more aspirins daily than you were taking a year ago; if your kidney infection never really clears up . . . YOU'D BETTER START THINKING ABOUT A SWITCH

If you are still depressed, tired or fatigued; if you still have those dizzy spells; if sleeping continues to be one big nightmare; if your ulcers are still as active as ever; if your blood pressure is still too high; if your sinus is stopped up and you are still susceptible to colds. . . IT PROBABLY IS TIME FOR YOU TO SWITCH

If your doctor says that nothing can be done for you; if the pain pills don't kill the pain anymore; if they tell you there is nothing wrong with you; if you're at your wit's end. . . THEN YOU CAN'T AFFORD NOT TO SWITCH

Lola Burkett Switched to Chiropractic and Here's Why:

While reading the newspaper, I saw the testimonial of a patient who had glaucoma. Because I had a cataract covering my right eye, I decided to try chiropractic. I was also suffering with high blood pressure, pain in my neck and shoulders and there was no hearing in my left ear. After only a few adjustments, the pain in my neck and shoulders went away. I could hear alot better and was able to see colors with my right eye that I couldn't see before

I recommend the Ribley Chiropractic Life Center highly.
